Senate Restores Luxury Sales Taxes To Revenue Bill

$80,000,000 IS ADDED BY VOTE TODAY

Toilet Preparations, Furs and Jewelry and Other Articles Are Assessed LEVY ON TIRES, TUBES Manufacturers Sales Tax on Mechanical Refrigerators Also is Passed

WASHINGTON, May 26.—(UP)—The senate today voted approximately $80,000,000 of additional taxes into the $1,000,000,000 revenue bill. Approximately $33,000,000 was levied on tires and tubes and the remainder on so-called luxury sales taxes. Senate leaders resorted to the luxury taxes previously stricken from the bill in committee when general sales tax and high income tax senators sought to wreck the committee bill by reducing its levies. They hoped to force resort to their own favorite tax systems.

NATE BROWNE PLANS TO HOP OFF TODAY

SEATTLE, May 26.—(UP)—Although an unfavorable north wind prevailed at Boeing field, Nate Browne, former Texas cowboy, was exempted to hop off today on a non-stop flight for Tokyo in his big crimson monoplane. It was believed he would risk getting off the long runway from an inclined ramp with 940 gallons of gasoline, despite lack of a stiff, "lifting" headwind. Browne is anxious to get away as he must land at Tokyo before June 1 to be eligible for the $29,950 awarded by Seattle citizens and organizations five years ago for the first successful spanning of the Pacific from this side.

MAIL PLANE SAFE; NEVER ASKED HELP

BOSTON, May 26.—(UP)—The liner Europa's ship to shore mail plane was safe here today as federal investigators tried to trace 13 mysterious SOS calls which precipitated a widespread search Wednesday in the belief the craft had been forced down far at sea. Pilot Joachim Blankenburg and Radio Operator Karl Kirchhoff learned with astonishment of the distress signals and of the resultant rescue hunt when they alighted from their monoplane. The plane was catapulted from the liner's deck more than 550 miles east of Nantucket. The fliers said they had encountered no trouble and had broadcast no SOS.

W.C.T.U. OPENS WAR ON HOTELS IN WINDY CITY

National Dry Organization Aroused Over Favoritism Shown Wets

(Copyright 1932 by United Press) CHICAGO, May 26.—(UP)—A bitter attack on Chicago hotels where delegates and visitors to the national convention will stay was waged today by the national W.C.T.U. and heads of Illinois dry organizations. Culmination of the attack, based on the fact that the Chicago hotel men's association broke a ruling of many years to allow the Illinois women's organization for national prohibition reform to set up membership enrollment booths in hotel lobbies but denied the same privilege to dry workers, is expected on the eve of the Republican convention, June 14. The United Press learned that the preference shown for the anti-prohibition women by the big hotel men aroused ire of the W.C.T.U. women as nothing has in years. They have determined to make it the basis of a national protest. A large committee is now gathering facts to "tell the entire United States just before the political conventions."

JAPANESE GENERAL DIES FROM WOUNDS

SHANGHAI, May 26.—(UP)—Gen. Yoshinori Shirakawa, commander of the Japanese forces at Shanghai, lost a stubborn fight for life when he died today from injuries received almost a month ago at a Japanese celebration honoring the Emperor's birthday. Gen. Shirakawa stood with the other highest Japanese officials here on a reviewing stand at Hongkew park when a bomb hurled from the crowd exploded, wounding the general and all other officials on the stand. Death occurred today after numerous blood transfusions and an emergency operation. Japanese surgeons rushed here from Sasebo naval base to attend Gen. Shirakawa and other wounded. The right leg of Japanese Minister Shigenaga was amputated on the day an armistice was signed with the Chinese.

COURT BATTLE OVER STOCKS SALES SEEN

NEW YORK, May 26.—(UP)—A possible court battle between William Fox and the interests that ousted him from control of the huge Fox film corporation in 1930 loomed today as a result of the sale by Fox of collateral held against a note for $2,300,000 of General Theaters Equipment, Inc. This company, which succeeded Fox in control, went into the hands of receivers last March, and the note is overdue. It was part of the payment made to Fox for stepping out of the picture after a dramatic battle for control of the company he had built up from a "nickelodeon" to the biggest amusement enterprise in the world. Fox sold at auction for $450,000 the collateral, consisting of 50,000 shares of Grandeur, Inc., and 108,000 shares of Fox film class A stock and spokesmen claimed that the stock was bought by representatives of the former motion picture magnate.

Man Arrested 153 Times Claims Record

SACRAMENTO, Calif., May 26.—(UP)—White-haired John O'Day smiled contentedly from behind the bars of the city jail today. He was arrested on a charge of being drunk and trying to start a one-man riot, but that isn't what made him smile. It was the 153rd time John has been arrested by local officers.

DRY FORCES OF COUNTRY BACK UP SEN. BORAH

Mobilize in Effort to Prevent Hoover Agreeing to Referendum

WASHINGTON, May 26.—(UP)—Prohibition forces are mobilizing in an effort to prevent President Hoover agreeing to a combined enforcement-referendum prohibition plank in the Republican platform. Revelation that many White House political advisers have urged abandonment of the bone-dry Republican policy is quickening prohibition opposition to any change in party pledges. The dries are endeavoring to center their organization around Senator Borah, Rep., Idaho, who has revealed he would boycott the Republican convention and the campaign if there was any wavering on prohibition. Borah said today he had received a score or more of telegrams from Republican leaders endorsing his attitude. Borah led the host of Republican orators who campaigned for Mr. Hoover in 1928. He has been invited to meet with Republican prohibitionists to discuss the outlook in view of reports of changing sentiment at the White House. Postmaster General Walker Brown is said on unquestionable authority to have informed Mr. Hoover that repetition of the unqualified dry planks of 1924 and 1928 platforms would be at least dangerous to party success. Prohibition leaders in the party are counselling the President first against any change whatsoever in his prohibition policy and second against any position which could be interpreted as a straddle. Some prominent Republican congressmen long identified with the prohibition movement feel that to combine law enforcement with a referendum proposition would not squarely meet the wet-dry issue. The latest statement purporting to explain the President's position comes from Chicago. Julius Klein, Republican nominee for congressman-at-large, made public a letter from Rep. Britten, Rep., Ill., in which the congressional veteran said he was "as certain as it is possible to be that President Hoover will run on a wet platform."

FIFTY MILLION IN TIMBER ENDANGERED

TORONTO, Ont., May 26.—(UP)—Fifty million dollars worth of white pine timber was endangered today by forest fires raging through the Timagami forest reserve, about 250 miles north of here, Ontario forestry officials announced today. A strong northeast wind aided the fires, as they burned toward areas containing some of the finest white pine timber in Canada. The fire started Tuesday, forestry officials said, from unknown causes.

Prices Take Jump After Bear Raids

Upward Trend Follows Action of Senate in Reviving Sales Tax

NEW YORK, May 26.—(UP)—Congressional progress toward balancing the nation's budget today was responsible for a complete about face on the stock exchange after the list had broken through previous low records for the depression. The Senate revived a long list of selected sales taxes, and the House leaders indicated they anticipated a more favorable reception to such method of raising revenue at this time. This change in the attitude of the legislators immediately brought short covering into the stock market. Prices, which had been down one to more than four points, quickly made up all the losses and in a long list substituted gains over the previous closing levels. Allied Chemical jumped nearly four points from its low and American Tobacco B made a wider spurt, as did Union Pacific. All the leading issues were carried up from the lows with recently depressed issues leading the advance on covering. Wheat which had been down sharply came back 3-4 cent to more than a cent from the lows, but closed off 5-8 to 7-8 cent. Cotton failed to join the advance as did bonds which were generally lower. United States government issues held fairly well, although the majority were under previous close.

RENO DIVORCE CASE WILL BE RE-OPENED

RENO, Nev., May 26.—(UP)—A grand jury investigation into the burning of divorce records in the original suit of Mrs. Beatrice Eisman, former wife of Ralph Eisman, New York millionaire, will be asked soon, Mrs. Eisman said today on her arrival from New York. The request for a grand jury investigation is a part, Mrs. Eisman said, of a fight to gain custody of her 8-year-old son, Ralph Jr. Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, victimized by Curtis' stories that he was negotiating with kidnappers for the safe return of the Lindbergh baby, will not testify before the grand jury, but will testify at the trial later, it was said. There was no major development reported in the hunt for the actual kidnappers and killers of Charles A. Lindbergh Jr.

THREE KILLED IN NEBRASKA TORNADO

TRENTON, Neb., May 26.—(UP)—Three persons were killed and five injured when a tornado dipped down into the central and southwestern Nebraska. The dead are: Mrs. John Newport, 36, of Cornell; John Newport, 35, of Cornell; and Mrs. Ward Carey of Hershey. The Newport home was wrenched from its foundation. Mrs. Newport was picked up and carried into a nearby field by the twister. Her husband was fatally injured. GRAND JURY BEGINS SEARCH LOS ANGELES, May 26.—(UP)—Los Angeles county officials began a search today for $75,000 in cash which disappeared under mysterious circumstances from the office of the county clerk. The money was seized more than two years ago as an exhibit in the asserted attempt of Morris Lavin, former newspaper man, to extort the sum from the late Charles H. Crawford.

LIFE PRISONER'S TRIBUTE TO CAT CAPTURES HONORS IN SHORT STORY CONTEST

BOSTON, May 26.—(UP)—A life term prisoner's tribute to "Mike," pet cat at Charles-town state prison, has won him second prize in a short story contest conducted by "Our Dumb Animals," publication of the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. But stranger than the award is the change seven years behind prison walls seems to have wrought in the writer, Frank Stevens, alias James E. Walters. Incessant house-breaking escapades in which he treated women with the bestial disregard made him famed as "The Lone Wolf." Now he writes of a mere cat in these sentimental paragraphs: "Mike is a prison cat. Large, gray and, to the casual observer, typically catlike in his indifference to his surroundings, nevertheless Mike has a purpose in life. "Work for Mike begins when the men are locked in for the night. Silently, unobtrusively, he makes his nightly rounds of the wing. If you are reading or writing, Mike won't interrupt you. But if you are pacing your cell, or sit nervously on your bed, or chair, Mike stops at your door, looks thoughtfully at you. You cannot resist his silent appeal to forget your worry or heart-ache, and scratch his head or side. "Your next thought is to feed him. A scrap of meat, even a piece of bread. He'll make a great show at eating it—the fat rascal—then lick his chops and presses against the bars for his farewell scratch. "Good-bye, Mike," you say, and smile softly. From farther down the tier comes 'Hello, Mike.' And you smile again. Mike is on his errand of mercy."

GRAND JURY TO INDICT CURTIS TO SPEAK HERE IN LINDY HOAX THIS EVENING

Famous Flier Not to Testify Before Jury Which Opens Its Probe

HOPWELL, N. J., May 26.—(UP)—The Hunterdon county grand jury today considered the case against John Hughes Curtis, confessed Lindbergh kidnaping faker, and according to counsel for Curtis will indict him. The indictment, Attorney A. W. Hance said, probably will be returned Saturday at Flemington, if agreed upon by the jury. Attorney W. C. Pender, of Norfolk, counsel for Curtis, said the indictment would be followed by trial "after June." Curtis is charged with giving false information and hindering the arrest of a criminal, which is a misdemeanor in this state, punishable by three years in prison, $1000 fine, or both. Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, victimized by Curtis' stories that he was negotiating with kidnappers for the safe return of the Lindbergh baby, will not testify before the grand jury, but will testify at the trial later, it was said. There was no major development reported in the hunt for the actual kidnappers and killers of Charles A. Lindbergh Jr.

MENTION OF BRIBERY IS HEARD TODAY

Dapper New York Mayor in Heated Retort Claims It is Personal Business CHEERED BY CROWD

Seabury Accused of Trying to "Get Walker's Job" and Hot Words Hurlled

BULLETIN NEW YORK, May 26.—(UP)—Russell T. Sherwood, who handled several small houses keeping financial affairs for Mayor James J. Walker's wife, banked $700,225 in a period of four years, according to testimony before the Hofstadter investigating committee late today.

Mayor Walker was testifying before the committee when Consul Samuel Seabury made this revelation. Sherwood, who has been missing since the inquiry began, has been known generally as Walker's business representative, but the Mayor today insisted this was not the case. "I don't know anything about Sherwood's private affairs," Walker said when the large bank deposit record was shown. "I repeat I have nothing to do with his business."

Mayor James J. Walker, admitting he had profited almost $300,000 in stock market pools through the goodness of his friends, struck back before the Hofstadter legislative committee today against any implications that his personal business transactions were related to his official acts. He made no personal investment in any of the lucrative pools, he said, and he and his colleagues openly showed resentment at the interrogation into his private affairs, terming it "examination before trial—a preliminary to preferring charges against me as the governor of this state."

Mention of the word bribery came again into today's hearing, but from Walker himself. Yesterday he had suggested Counsel Samuel Seabury of the committee to come into the open with any claim, and he might have, And today, he renewed his virtual challenge by declaring, in explanation of one of his riskless profits that he making his statement "to take away any inference or innuendo" that he was bribed "in the matter of (city) taxicab control."

Admits Profits Walker admitted the following stock market profits which he had accrued without personal investment:

- 1.—An account operated by Paul Block, dealing in several stocks, yielded $246,692.70. Block's beneficence was credited for the gift.
- 2.—An operation carried on by Desmond O'Brien, netting $10,000 to Walker, which the latter attributed to O'Brien's friendship.
- 3.—An operation carried on through J. A. Sisto and company, in Cadden Oil stocks, netting $15,000, which was paid in Cadden bonds. Walker doubted if these

WILL ROGERS SAYS:

BEVERLY HILLS, May 26. (To the Editor of The Register:) Congress and the Senate are wondering if they will be through in time for their various conventions. New the question arises in our time the same as in Shakespeare's (or some other old-timer) "to be in session or not to be in session, whether it is better to suffer with or without Congress and the Senate." Most folks say "Let them suffer like they have made us suffer." But to keep a politician away from his convention is just like taking ice cream away from a kid. It's liable to make 'em so mad there is no telling what they will pass. Yours, WILL ROGERS so Chicago women interested in the movement could enroll their names, we decided to allow them to do so.

"Our rule is against allowing solicitors for any cause to use hotel lobbies and when W. C. T. U. women asked to get names and money, we refused them."

"When the hotel men voted against prohibition, it was partly on a dollars and cents basis. Prohibition cut hotel revenues drastically."

Repeal week ended with more than 100,000 new names on the wet organization's rolls, according to Mrs. George Brennan, general chairman.

Incensed at the reception given them by the hotel men, the W. C. T. U. women, led by Mrs. Ada Ferguson, president of the Illinois W. C. T. U. and Mrs. Herman Savory, heading the Illinois dry allied forces, launched their counter attack.

"The hotel men told us that taking bars out of their hotels had hurt their trade," a spokesman for one of the women said. "They said everybody went to speakless new to eat and drink."

"We are going to prove that hotels have done better since bars were taken out by prohibition. The same space is now rented to tearoom, gift shops and stores at higher rental."

"Our committee is marshalling the facts. When we have them ready, we are going to tell 25,000,000 people in this country just where the hotel men of Chicago stand on the saloon questions and the falsity of their excuses."

MAKES NO PLANS TO PAY ITS WAR DEBTS

LONDON, May 26. — (UP)—Great Britain has made no arrangement to pay war debt annuities to the United States after expiration of the Hoover moratorium, Maj. Walter E. Elliot, financial secretary of the treasury, informed the house of commons today.

Elliot was asked by George Lambert if an arrangement had been made to pay the annuities after expiration of the moratorium, addition to the agreement for paying the annuities suspended during the moratorium. Elliot merely referred him to the budget speech of Neville Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer, and the statement of Sir John Simon yesterday.

$15 Secured In Two Burglaries

Two small burglaries were reported in Santa Ana last night. A thief who broke in the back window of the office of Jack Willey, used cars, at 315 East First street, stole a bank from the desk, containing $15 in cash, it was reported.

S. A. KIWANIS ENTERTAIN AT ANGLING CLUB

Attended by 124 members and guests of the local Kiwanis club and their families, one of the most outstanding social events of the club season was staged last night and yesterday afternoon when a motor caravan left Santa Ana and attended a trout fishing party at the Rainbow Angling club in Azusa.

Everyone in the party was successful in catching the free limit of two fish and many caught more in the lake, which is stocked with trout. Mrs. Loren Moore caught the largest fish, the trout measuring about 13 1/2 inches long.

After the fish had been caught, they were cleaned and cooked by club attendants, who served them as the main course in a dinner served in cabins surrounding the lake.

The only mishap during the entire party occurred when Mrs. Don Rice slipped and fell in the lake, necessitating the purchase of new clothes at Azusa before she rejoined the party.

Dr. H. G. Huffman, chairman of the entertainment committee, was in charge of the event, assisted by Otto Haan, Fred Crowell, Maurice Enderly and Orlyn Robertson.

METHODISTS GREET FORMER SECRETARY

Greetings from the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church now in session in Atlantic City, New Jersey, were received yesterday by Dr. E. M. Mills, 2429 Polinetta street, the only living ex-secretary of the organization. Dr. Mills has been a member of eight of the general conferences, and served as secretary from 1926 to 1929, and preceding this period, served as assistant secretary for seven other general conferences.

WALKER AGAIN GOES ON STAND DURING PROBE

bonds were of any value. Someone, whose name he said he could not recall, suggested he enter this operation.

"The Sisto bond delivery already had been brought before the committee and it was developed that Sisto was greatly interested in the taxicab control situation in New York City. Today Walker asked to have inserted into the record a statement 'to take away any inference or innuendo that Mr. Sisto bribed me in the matter of the taxicab control.' He told of appointment of a commission to study the cab situation and added:

Commission Named

"That commission was appointed and the ordinance was voted. And thus the Parmalee Taxicab company lost, through the failure to put through increased rates, at least $1,000,000 a year. I say that to show what influence my actions might have had on Parmalee Taxicab bonds."

The mayor and the Tammany delegation were vigorously on the offensive today as Seabury delved into the various stock market profits which Walker claimed came through beneficence of friends. After Walker had made his assertion that the hearing was "examination before trial," Tammany members of the committee spoke up.

"It is true you just what his job?" Senator John J. McNaboe yelled.

"If he is ever removed from office, the people of New York will re-elect him by the greatest majority he ever had," said Senator John J. Dunnigan. "The people of this state have already been mulcted of $750,000 and I'd like to know what they're getting out of it."

Walker replied to Dunnigan's reference to re-election:

"But I don't want to get it that way."

For the first time, the name of Russell T. Sherwood, described as Walker's business agent and long sought witness before the committee, came into the examination. Walker denied that Sherwood had charge of his financial affairs and also denied he and Sherwood shared a safety deposit box.

He said he had signed an application for such a box but added:

"I never used it. I have my own box in the Corn Exchange bank and pay $5 a year for it and it's plenty big enough for all my purposes."

Press Club of J. C. Stages Beach Meet

In the form of a weiner roast and beach party at Corona Del Mar yesterday afternoon and evening, the Press Club of the Santa Ana Junior college held their last meeting of the year and elected officers for the coming semester. Chester Ewing, present president of the organization, was in charge of the affair.

Sam Churchill was elected president for the first semester of the 1932-1933 school term and Ewing stepped into the position of vice president. Lucille Harper was selected as secretary-treasurer and Evelyn Green will serve as social chairman of the organization.

New Principal Hired By Board

LOS ALAMITOS, May 26.—Four of the teachers of Laurel school have been retained by the school trustees at a reduction of 10 per cent in salaries, while a new principal, Frank H. Hawks, of Whittier, has been employed at a slight increase in salary.

The retiring principal, Miss Nina Duden, is taking up work elsewhere. She has been in charge of welfare work in the Los Alamitos district for the past 10 months.

COMMITTEE WORKS ON WATER MEASURES

Water, as the most important subject in this section, is still the object of thorough study and investigation, not only locally, but in all western states, and a committee composed of members of the farm bureau in the 11 western states is still working on a project to provide laws and regulations affecting all water supply sources in the states, according to a statement made today by Roland Flaherty, executive secretary of the Orange County Farm Bureau.

Discussion of possible legislation was considered in Santa Ana when members of the farm bureau water committee met with M. S. Winder, executive secretary of the American Farm Bureau Federation, here Tuesday. John W. Crill, president of the local Farm Bureau, and Dr. D. D. Wayne, water authority, took Winder over the county during the afternoon explaining the local water problems so the national organization would have complete understanding of local problems.

SALES TAX IS APPROVED BY SENATE TODAY

The restored taxes would affect toilet preparations, furs, jewelry, candy, boots, soft drinks, sporting goods, cameras, mechanical refrigerators, firearms, matches and safety deposit boxes.

Committee experts estimated the yield from the additions to the excise schedule would be approximately $60,000,000.

The committee met at 9 a. m. in response to general demands from the floor that taxes which were eliminated when the treasury program was adopted be written back into the bill. It required only an hour for the committee to reach a decision, and members immediately departed for the senate chamber to place the redrafted excise schedule before the senate.

Toilet preparations, under the committee decision, will be taxed 10 per cent, with soap and dentifrices exempted. A 5 per cent tax levied on furs will be paid by the dresser.

Jewelry will be subject to a 10 per cent tax, with an exemption for sterling and plated silver. Candy will be taxed 2 per cent.

The committee altered the boat schedule to place an annual use tax on a graduated scale on all craft over 25 feet. The soft drink schedule was returned as approved earlier by the committee, as were sporting goods and matches. The tax on matches is 1/2 cent a thousand on paper matches and two cents on wooden ones.

The firearms provision adopted by the House was again approved by the Senate committee. Aerial cameras will be exempt from the tax on photographic equipment. Mechanical refrigerators will be taxed as in the House bill and safety deposit boxes will be taxed permanently instead of on a two-year basis.

The admissions tax was altered to provide exemption for all tickets under 30 cents.

The toilet preparations tax, at a rate of 10 per cent, and estimated to bring in $12,000,000, was adopted immediately after the Senate met. Soaps and dentifrices are exempt.

Passage of jewelry tax followed close on the heels of the levy on toilet preparations. The Senate made no exemptions from the 10 per cent tax. The yield was estimated at $5,000,000.

The 5 per cent manufacturers' sales tax on mechanical refrigerators was approved without debate. It is expected to yield $6,000,000.

NEED FOR FILM SUPERVISION TOLD BY JUDGE

A number of attorneys from various sections of Orange county who have been advising with the executive committee of the Better Films association, met with the committee at the Y.M.C.A. in Santa Ana last night.

In drawing up a suggested ordinance for the various towns and cities of the county, consideration was given to the city ordinance in effect in many parts of the United States. A tentative ordinance comprising some of the features of the New York law combined with sections from the Pasadena and other city ordinances was presented as a basis for discussion. Copies of this tentative ordinance are being furnished to a number of representative attorneys in all sections of the county for their consideration and criticism.

In addressing the group Judge H. G. Ames of the superior court stated that his work in the juvenile court has convinced him of the need of an organization such as the Better Films association. He assured the committee of his desire to co-operate with the organization to the fullest extent in bringing about this much needed reform. He expressed the opinion that sex pictures were the most insidious in their effect upon the adolescent youth of the county.

A report from Harrison White, Boy Scout executive of the county, was given relative to the effective work done by the board of review in San Jose in eliminating pictures that tend to corrupt morals of the youth of scout age. White has had much practical experience as a member of the San Jose board of review.

It was reported that several thousand men and women from all parts of the county have indicated over their signatures that they desire to have a part in raising the moral tone of pictures shown in the county.

It was pointed out that conscientious exhibitors such as are found in Orange county would profit by the existence of a board of review for "they would then not be forced to pay for salacious and obscene pictures which they are now forced to accept and pay for under the block booking system," one speaker said.

The next meeting of the executive committee is called for Wednesday, June 25, at the Y.M.C.A., Santa Ana.

NEWS INSTITUTE PROVES INTERESTING

A group of newspaper correspondents and reporters from all sections of Orange county attended an all-day session on instruction in the proper methods of news writing held yesterday in the office of County Farm Advisor Harold Wahlberg in the courthouse annex. The news institute was sponsored by the extension service of the state university, the Farm Bureau and the Orange County Press association.

Harold Ellis, manager of the University of California News service, was one of the principal speakers. In his talk he said, "Newspapers render an important service to their readers. They take a pride in truth and accuracy. There is no question that the development of Orange county has been due in great part to its excellent newspapers; these papers have prospered because they are reliable."

Ellis was assisted by W. C. Marsh, in charge of the news service at the University of California at Los Angeles. J. B. Phillips, president of the Orange County Press association, John W. Crill, president of the Orange County Farm Bureau, Roland Flaherty, secretary of the county Farm Bureau and editors of various papers in the county were other speakers on the institute program.

DIVORCE GRANTED WHITE FROM NEGRO

LOS ANGELES, May 26.—(UP)—Helen Lee Worthington, former actress in the Follies, had a divorce today from Dr. Eugene E. Nelson, wealthy Negro physician, on the ground of cruelty.

She charged her husband was possessed of a violent temper and was of an extremely jealous nature, and in uncontested testimony described numerous acts of alleged cruelty.

"On one occasion," she said, "he held a gun against my head, threatening me nearly all night. On another occasion he left me without food for several days. I had a nervous breakdown because of it."

During a four-month period, Dr. Nelson was ordered to pay his former wife $300 per month, the payments to cease in case she remarried.

CATHOLIC MEN WILL MEET IN ANAHEIM PARK

They will be guests of the 168 members of the Holy Name society of St. Boniface church which was organized only two years ago according to William J. Lake, secretary.

Dockweiler, president of the Diocesan Union; Joseph K. Coady of the Speaker Bureau; Rev. M. O'Gorman, spiritual director of the Diocesan Union and Senior J. David Orozco, chairman of the Mexican division. Senior Orozco's address will be delivered in Spanish.

Arrange Funeral Rites For Baby

A WORD OF COMFORT

Since your dear one went away you have been led to look on the future as you never did before. Have you been struck with awe by what you have seen, unable to understand why you had not always seen? Ah! The wonder of God's patience with mankind, earthbound in its interests; and the glory of His love, which reveals to you and your grief and a certainty of tomorrow, which makes each today an opportunity to do your duty as well that you will never be ashamed! Attainment is of small amount; it is keeping on trying that counts.

OLD SOLDIERS HONOR MEMORY OF COMRADES

Turning aside from the everyday matters of life, Santa Ana veterans and affiliated organizations will pay due homage to the memory of departed comrades of United States war next Monday, when appropriate Memorial day exercises will be staged in practically all cemeteries in the county.

Gray-headed veterans of the Civil war, feeble with age but still with an undying devotion to their hearts to keep ever fresh the memories of the comrades who have been called from this life, will join with veterans of the Spanish-American war, the World war and affiliated organizations and patriotic groups in the services.

G. A. R. Programs
The Grand Army of the Republic will hold Memorial day exercises at the monument in Fairhaven cemetery Monday morning with the Orange and Santa Ana post. There are 560 graves to be Orange, who is the chaplain of the post, is being assisted in arrangements by Commander J. H. Brown of Tustin, head of the local post. There are 560 graves to be decorated in honor of departed G. A. R. members. Not very many of the Civil war veterans are expected to be able to attend the services.

Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock, an elaborate program will be staged by the G. A. R. in Birch park, Santa Ana. Music will be furnished by Clanton's band. Invocation will be given by Chaplain Smith of the Orange post. Mrs. J. P. Williams will sing a solo. The meeting will be opened with the entire audience singing the "Star Spangled Banner." Mrs. Eva J. Bell will present a reading. The Spanish-American veterans will provide the drum corps and firing squad for the exercises.

An impressive part of the program at the park will be the reading of names of departed comrades, which will be done by Quartermaster W. J. Leiser, following which taps will be played. The Lincoln Gettysburg address will be read. Nye Martin will present a vocal solo, following which the address of the afternoon will be given by the Rev. Harry Owings, pastor of the Santa Ana Baptist church. The service will close with the group singing of "America" and a benediction.

The Grand Army of the Republic and all allied organizations will attend special services in the Presbyterian church Sunday morning. They will be escorted by a Spanish-American war veterans unit and by the drum corps on the march to the church from the K of P. hall, where they will assemble.

Legion Plans
Santa Ana American Legion post No. 131 will join with the Orange Legion post No. 132, in staging joint memorial services at Fairhaven cemetery at 9 o'clock Monday morning. They are also uniting with other veteran and patriotic organizations who will participate in the program. Superior Judge James L. Allen will deliver the main address of the day. The Santa Ana Moose band, under the direction of Ted Collins, will furnish the music for the services. Assembly will be held at the gates of the cemetery just before the march into the cemetery. Upon arriving in the cemetery, the band will play the "Star Spangled Banner," following which a flag salute ceremony will be held. Rodney Bacon, commander of the Legion, will introduce the speaker.

The band will play "America" during the crowning ceremony of the day when a Boy Scout places a wreath on the floral shaft in the cemetery. Dr. A. M. Tipton, chaplain of the Orange Legion post, will deliver the prayer, following which taps will be played. A military impressiveness will be given the ceremony by the firing squad of Company L, of Santa Ana national guards, when they are a volley just before the procession marches into the cemetery. Harold Rasmussen and T. A. Bolte are in charge of the arrangements for the services.

V. F. W. and D. A. V.
Santa Ana Ernest Kellogg post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, will provide the drum corps for the Memorial day services to be held at Loma Vista cemetery near Fullerton at 10 a. m. Monday. The local post and auxiliary will join with ex-service and patriotic organizations of Fullerton in staging the ceremonies.

Because of the advanced age of most of the G. A. R. members, details of the programs honoring them and their departed comrades are in the hands of Sons of Union Veterans and Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil war. Members of the Disabled American Veterans will also take part in the services at Fairhaven Monday. In addition to this, they will stage dedication exercises at the Holy Sepulchre cemetery near Irvine park at 11 o'clock Monday morning for a flag pole the post gave in honor of the memory of a departed member. ## QUESTION MAN AFTER WOMEN ANNOYED HERE

Police this afternoon were to quiz Elmer Aming, of 606 East Chapman avenue, Orange, following a report made to the police at 12:15 a. m. today by Miss Martha Carr, of 1111-2 South Broadway, that a car which she reported bore Aming license number, followed her to her home early this morning and that two men in the machine bothered her and Mrs. W. H. James, of the James confectionery.

Miss Carr reported that Mrs. James started to drive her to her home when the confectionery closed for the night, and that two men in a car followed them. When her home was reached, the men attempted to enter her car and frightened the two women so badly that Miss Carr was afraid to get out. They drove to the police station instead.

A search was made for the car at the time but it was not found, although according to the report the car in which the women were riding was followed almost to the police station. The license number of the car occupied by the men was taken and the number checked by police, who reported it was registered to Elmer Aming. The Orange police were called, but the car could not be found last night.

The other soloist, Miss Dirmann, is a vocal authority according to press comments in a Los Angeles paper which says in part, "Rose Dirmann wins triumph in recital. ## TARVER DECREE IS UPHOLD BY FEDERAL COURT Decision of Judge Ben F. Tarver retoree in bankruptcy, denying the Bank of America's petition to quash a restraining order issued by the federal court that prohibited foreclosure proceedings on the home ranch of the Bastanchury corporation has been upheld in a decision received today from the federal court.

Tarver was upheld in his refusal to quash the restraining order and on his ruling ordering the Bank of America to surrender immediately possession of the property to Ashby Turner, trustee in bankruptcy. The Bank of America, trustees for holders of bonds totalling $850,000 sought permission to sell the property. Total bonds in the corporation amount to $1,700,000. Had this petition been granted and the restraining order dissolved bondholders who had not deposited their bonds with that organization would have been left out in the event of sale of the property along with unsecured creditors to the extent of $850,000, the holder of a trust deed amounting to $750,000 and the Standard Oil company with a crop mortgage for $300,000.

In applying for dissolution of the restraining order, attorneys for the bank contended that the bankruptcy court had no jurisdiction in the matter inasmuch as the bank had possession of the property before the trustee in bankruptcy was appointed. In denying the petition and continuing the restraining order Tarver ruled that the bankruptcy court had summary jurisdiction. This ruling was based on the theory that the bankruptcy court represented the Bastanchury company, or the mortgagee and that the Bank of America, as trustees under the trust deed securing the bonds was trustee and agent for both the bondholders and the bankrupt company. In upholding Tarver's decision the court ordered the bank to give immediate possession of the property to Turner, appointed trustee in bankruptcy.

SUPERVISORS OF SOUTHLAND PLAN TAX CUTS

Supervisors forming an executive committee and representing the 10 southern counties met yesterday in Los Angeles with the executive committee of the southern council of the California State Chamber of Commerce to plan definite and specific tax reductions for 1932-33.

Supervisors agreed that tax delinquencies are so great this year as to make immediate relief necessary. The session was called by Supervisor Henry Wright, chairman of the Los Angeles county board of supervisors and president of the County Supervisors Association of the State of California.

Plans and recommendations developed at the session of the two executive committees are to be sent to the statewide taxation committee of the state chamber of commerce for inclusion in a program for reduction of governmental expenditure and taxation.

Suggest Early Budgets
The general opinion expressed during the conference was that economy and efficiency could be brought about by the reduction of the number of tax levying agencies and a committee was appointed to make a study for the purpose of centralizing authority and reducing the number of these agencies as far as is consistent with efficient management and governmental operation.

Early filing of budgets was another move advocated for greater government economy. It was pointed out that under the present system budgets do not have to be filed until July 10 and must be completed by August 30. Under this system many counties are spending two months in the next fiscal year before completing their budgets.

A resolution was passed that supervisors throughout the state adopt a policy of calling for estimates from all tax levying bodies to be filed with county boards or the county auditors not later than May 1 of each year.

Delinquency Data
The taxation committee of the state chamber of commerce will also be asked to develop legislation for repeal of the Acquisition and Improvement Act of 1925. The two executive committees approved a recommendation along that line and another requesting that remedial legislation which would provide a relief measure, on the same basic principle as that used in the relief of reclamation and irrigation districts in Northern California, for owners of property who are having their property confiscated by Acquisition and Improvement districts.

We've got good News for Mother and Dad!

"Mother has been wanting one of those new gas refrigerators that works automatically. She says she could save a lot on her grocery and vegetable bill and—Oh Boy—that she would make all sorts of perfets and other goodies, if she only had one.

"But Dad said we'd have to wait awhile until he could work the payments into the budget.

"NOW the gas company says we can have one for as little as Five Dollars down and only $7.50 a month. And, besides, they'll give us an allowance for our old box. Aint THAT sumpin?"

COUNTY C. OF C. TOLD FACTORS IN DEPRESSION

Declaring that depressions are caused because people insist on trying to make future generations earn a living for them through investments and that this is impossible, Dr. Ralph M. Rutledge, former economics professor of U. C. L. A. and who is now connected with the University College, U. S. C. and the Union Deposit company of Los Angeles, delivered an address before members of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Orange county Tuesday night in Yorba Linda that stirred up considerable discussion following the lecture.

"We need more common sense and not so much ballyhoo," the speaker declared. "We have been through the same thing time after time with depressions. It is a process of washing out the false investments." He traced the history of various depressions in the United States to prove his point and read an excerpt from a magazine published years ago which sounded as if written in current times.

Concentrated Wealth Factor
"Concentrated wealth is a factor of the depression," he continued. "We make many mistakes, all generations do and believe the previous generation was wrong and that they know how to do things. But they all make the same mistake, that of trying to make future generations earn money for them. People concentrate investments in certain things every so often so the market cannot stand the production ensuing. The result is a breakdown of all classes of commercial enterprise.

"Recently we have been using too much credit. We found credit could not be transferred so we invented a method of transferring credit. The Federal Reserve board was organized and we were never more to have depressions. This matter has been proved false. The fault is ours. We have tried to make our profits eternal. We tried to mortgage the future with the old debts still on our shoulders. Right now there are not enough dollars in the nation to pay off the old bills.

Governments Are Rackets
"Governments are rackets for those who control the governments. This was clearly indicated when Congress failed to get any of the recently proposed tax measures across because they conflicted with certain interests. Now they try to cut costs of government but still meet with great opposition. It is a physical impossibility to cut government expenses enough to balance the national budget. There are not enough dollars. We must increase the money structure and increase credit. We are not on a gold standard, we are on a credit standard.

"The era for our children will be the most glorious of all times. New things and inventions will make our civilization look simple. It will come quicker if we get off the backs of our children whom we have tried to enslave with old obligations and investments that try to mortgage the future.

"Every so often all old obligations must be wiped out and the sooner we see it the better off we will be. Those who cling to the old debts but hinder progress. When big business recognizes and takes its losses times will change. I believe the international debts will never be paid. I approve of a certain amount of inflation of money. If I were in Congress I would vote for the soldier's bonus.

STATE BLUE BOOK PUBLISHED SOON

SACRAMENTO, May 25.—(Mail) as the most authoritative and comprehensive book ever compiled on the agricultural, industrial and commercial opportunities, as well as the recreational advantages, history and natural scenic beauty of Orange county, the 1932 edition of the California Blue Book today stands ready for publication.

Frank C. Jordan, veteran secretary of state, as declared today, in announcing that the Blue Book would contain many new and highly useful features and important data about each county.

The book will be sold at $3 per copy in order to cover the actual cost of compilation, publication and distribution, as a result of an agreement between Jordan and Rolland A. Vandegrift, state finance director. The book will be distributed by Eric Cullenward, chief of the state bureau of publications and documents.

"I firmly believe that the 1932 Blue Book will be one of the most complete, authoritative and useful documents published," Jordan said. It will virtually be a combination encyclopedia and a Who's Who of the state, county, city, township, and federal governmental units in California.

BLINDFOLDED MAN TO DRIVE CAR IN TRAFFIC

Prince Rahji Mahindra, the master mystic of India, who will make his first appearance in Santa Ana next Wednesday afternoon under the auspices of Walker's State theater, will leave the theater at 1:30 after being securely blindfolded and will drive an automobile through the business section where the traffic is the heaviest. Thousands who have witnessed this feat in other communities have been amazed at his power.

The prince will appear at the theater for two days, Wednesday and Thursday, June 1 and 2. His first stage performance will be Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. He will present two performances nightly.

RETREAT FOR YOUNG WOMEN AT ST. JOSEPH'S

High school girls and young women of St. Joseph's parish are being reminded by the Rev. Fr. F. A. Wickenman, pastor of St. Joseph's Catholic church, of the annual retreat starting today and scheduled to end Sunday afternoon.

In addition to notifying all girls and young women who are members of the church, Father Wickenman is extending a special invitation to all girls and women in the community to attend the evening services tonight, tomorrow and Saturday nights. The Rev. Joseph Thompson, O. F. M., Franciscan missionary, will be in charge of all services.

In his letter sent to the girls and young women of the parish, Father Wickenman said in part: "The world economic crisis of the present day is naturally turning our minds towards Almighty God, the Creator and Preserver of mankind. It is salutary for us that our Father in heaven would have us to pause and reflect upon the life and teachings of His divine Son, who says, 'Without Me, you can do nothing, and he or she that is not with Me, is against Me.'"

During this month of May, the church urges all her children to draw near to God."

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go
If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine. For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul. Skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned. It takes these good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely. But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resist a substitute. 25c at all stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

TEACHERS THANKED FOR WELFARE WORK

HUNTINGTON BEACH, May 26.—"With the time approaching for closing of the school terms and the coming of vacation days, I wish to say the teachers of the public schools here are to be highly complimented on the assistance they have given in the welfare work," Frank Morris, chairman of the workmen's welfare committee of Huntington Beach, stated today.

"The teachers of the elementary schools have carried on a fine work and have been most generous and are continuing their splendid work right up to the close of school. Eronous reports have been given out as to the contributions of the elementary school teachers to the welfare committee. The teachers carried on their own welfare work through their school and we are familiar with what they have done and I desire to take this means of communicating to them the sincere appreciation of the welfare committee and to express for the committee and myself only the highest commendation for the teachers."

EQUIPMENT OF LARGE STILL CONFISCATED

Remnants of what once was a well equipped liquor producing plant, well hidden in a canyon near Olive, were today stacked up in the county yard near here, the sheriff's office having completed its work of dismantling the plant and trucking it into Santa Ana.

In the lot were a 250 gallon cooker; an 800 gallon cooker; three fuel drums, two of them filled with gasoline; 800 feet of one and a half inch pipe; and 10 gallons of alcohol.

Officers reported they destroyed some 500 gallons of alcohol. No test of the alcohol was made due to the fact that the container tops were blown off in the explosion that wrecked the plant and sent the police to the place and water used to put out the fire got in the cans. There also were 100 five gallon cans found.

COUNCIL TO OPEN WATER WELL BIDS

SAN CLEMENTE, May 26.—The city council will hold a special meeting Saturday morning, at which time bids for the erection of an eight-inch test well on proven ground will be opened. The location was decided upon from data furnished by a geo-electrical survey made of the proven basin.

Specifications call for a test hole of from 500 to 750 feet with borings made at the request of the city. Should the city be satisfied with the test hole, contract will be let for the construction of a 18-inch hole, a reservoir and pump for the well.

(United Press Staff Correspondent)
CHICAGO, May 26.—(UP)—"King" Levinsky of Chicago and Max Baer of California will meet in a 20-round bout here July 4." Reno News item. That's nothing much to get excited about, but it means that Jack Dempsey has abandoned his plan to try a comeback this summer.

Dempsey was offered $200,000 in real money by a Reno syndicate to meet Primo Carnera, Levinsky, Baer or a leading heavyweight in the Nevada state July 4 and turned it down. Instead he will turn to the promoting end again, despite the fact that he lost a lot of money trying to stage fights at the Chicago Coliseum two years ago.

Some say this wasn't Dempsey's money but anyway he failed because he overpaid the fighters. When he went after an attraction he wouldn't dicker, but would pay the price asked and managers soon found this out.

Dempsey will sponsor the Levinsky-Baer bout, probably will referee it and share in the profits, provided there are any. If there are any losses, the Reno syndicate probably will stand them. The Reno bout itself isn't expected to make money, but to attract sportsmen and spenders to the gambling tables, hotels and resorts.

Since Dempsey's exhibition tour ended, he has been re-decorating his hotel in Los Angeles which came back into his ownership when the previous owners defaulted on the notes.

Dempsey announced when he ended his tour that he planned to go into seclusion in the west, build himself back by several weeks of hard training preparatory to staging a return to the ring. He didn't even seclude himself, much less done any serious training, barring a little roadwork now and then just to keep in shape.

Dempsey might now have been in training for a return to the ring if difficulties hadn't come up about getting Carnera, the giant Italian, to return to this country. In Europe and his manager, Leon See, plans to keep him there as long as he can because of friction with connections in this country.

When Carnera's American representative was approached by a Reno sportsman regarding a bout with Dempsey, he was unable to guarantee that he could produce the Italian for the July 4 date. Dempsey wanted, feeling that Carnera's bulk and style were made to order for him. Throughout Dempsey's career he always was at his best against big, slow-witted opponents and he proved during his exhibition tour that he packed enough of his old punch to stop almost any man he could hit easily.

FIELDS IN HOSPITAL WITH APPENDICITIS

CHICAGO, May 26.—(UP)—Jackie Fields, welterweight champion, scheduled to fight Young Corbett, Pacific Coast boxer, in San Francisco June 25, was in Michael Reese hospital today suffering from acute appendicitis and septic poisoning from an ulcerated tooth, according to Ray Alvis, Fields' manager.

Alvis said he had called off a scheduled bout against Teddy Yarrow in Pittsburgh Tuesday night but had not called off the Corbett title fight.

Television To Show Derby Run At Epsom

LONDON, May 26.—(UP)—Two thousand persons will sit in a London cinema and watch the famous Epsom Derby being run June 1 at Epsom Downs, 16 miles away, and may know the winner before some track spectators. James L. Baird, British television pioneer, will superintend the first demonstration in which outdoor scenes are transmitted to a screen inside a cinema.

Six cables laid at the race track near the winning post will be connected with telephone lines on the downs. The apparatus receiving the picture will be housed in a van opposite the grandstand. From there it will be transmitted to the Baird studios in London and relayed to a 12-foot cinema screen.

Cartwright, Don Aces In Taft Relays

Captain Ray Cartwright, Santa Ana Hi's brilliant half-miler, will join Captain Doyle Gilbert, Jim Daneri, Fred Brooks and Paul Jungkeit of the junior college in representing Santa Ana at the Kern County Relays at Taft Saturday.

Cartwright will be accompanied by his student-coaches, "Chuck" Webber and "Red" Guyer, both of whom expect also to compete in the second annual invitational meet under the colors of the Los Angeles Athletic club.

There will be several divisions, including one for high school, junior college and college athletes. Approximately 250 stars performed before a crowd of 2500 spectators last year.

Coach Bill Cook's "four horsemen" will leave by motor Saturday morning. They will be entered in their regular events, Gilbert and Jungkeit concentrating on the broad jump, Daneri on the javelin and Brooks on the high hurdles.

FOOTE COACHES '31 TEAM FOR BENEFIT GAME

Bill Foote, Santa Ana high school basketball coach and assistant to Coach "Tex" Oliver in football, will have charge of the 1931 Saint champions when they return to the gridiron June 4 against Hi's 1932 riders in a monster benefit game for the city's unemployed.

Oliver who steered the '31 outfit to a Southern California title last season, will direct the 1932 squad from the opposite side of the field.

Coach Foote has the titular team working out at Poly field daily, and believes his lineup will be almost as strong as it was on Santa Ana's long-to-be-remembered day at the Los Angeles Coliseum last December 19 when the Saints routed Colvin 34-0, for the Southern Cal. championship.

"To" Blower, captain, will lead the "old timers" into the benefit game and will have with him all the members of the great '31 team who graduate this June. Those still eligible next season are cast in Oliver's '32 lineup.

Coach Oliver may start two sophomore tackles against the champions, Jack Shanfelt and "Big Boy" Williams are the youngsters who have commanded Oliver's attention in spring practice and are tentatively rated as the squad's No. 1 and No. 2 tackles. Fred Devenney and "Bud" Boyle, holdover tackles, have been shifted to center. Howard Rash and "Buck" Durbin probably will play guard, with Jack Mitchell and "Tex" Harris on the ends. Francis Conrad at quarter, Bob Mitchell, Floyd Montgomery and Herb Duncan at halfback, and Captain "Red" Kidder and Art Stranski at fullback is apt to be the 1932 team's backfield against the '31 roster.

ARCHER NAMES DON, HI NET LETTERMEN

Tennis lettermen for both his Santa Ana high school and junior college teams were announced today by Coach L. W. Archer.

Lewis Wetherell, Ernest Zimmerman, Kenneth Nissley, Claude Owens, Fred Wiemer, Fred Cartwright, Harris Warren and Dave Sylvan of the high school; Bob Kirk, Walt Carruthers, Bob Hafer, Dick Evans, Lecl Slaback, Harry Nissley, Doug McAdams, Glenn Eustice, Verl Moyer and Don Shirey of the junior college, will receive 1932 monograms.

Kirk, first singles player for Jaycee seven won out of eight matches, the best record turned in at the Santa Ana institution for some time.

A round-robin tournament of mixed doubles will wind up the 1932 season at the junior college. Lorna Allen and Verl Moyer defeated Helen Bower and Harry Nissley in straight sets in the first pairings. Other contestants, May Maag and Walt Carruthers, Agnes McKinstry and Bob Hafer, will complete first-round play this week.

OLYMPIC HOPES

by CLAIRE BURCKY

(This is the first of a series dealing with athletes who are expected to compete for the United States in the Olympic Games at Los Angeles. The Register suggests that you clip each article for future reference.)

Whenever the subject of United States Olympic hopes is discussed, one of the first names up for consideration is that of Ben Eastman of Stanford university. He's "in," barring accidents to his tall, skinny frame between now and July.

In the west they have believed in the lanky Stanford flyer since his freshman days. As a very raw rookie, he sent varsity coach, "Dink" Templeton, into ecstasies with a practice quarter-mile under 48 seconds. The Stanford coach enthusiastically predicted he would some day eclipse the world record of 47.4 seconds, which Ted Meredith of Pennsylvania established in 1916. That day came March 26, Eastman winning the 440 in 46.4 seconds in the Stanford-Los Angeles A. C. dual meet. It was Eastman's first official test of the season.

Eastman is a homely, blond, bespectacled youth, but the smooth graceful speed in his long legs is amazing. He glides along in effortless, ground-eating strides. His speed is deceiving, but that is because it appears so easy for him.

The east saw him in the L. C. 4-A games at Philadelphia last spring—and marveled. Favored to win the 440, he was forced to accept second place to the closing sprint of Vic Williams, his western rival from Southern California. But Williams, in winning, equaled Meredith's world record, and Eastman finished striding strongly on his heels. An hour later Ben trotted out and won the half mile in 1:54.4, the first time in 55 years of L. C. 4-A history that a western runner had won the half.

Eastman is purely a product of "Dink" Templeton's sound track teaching. He played tennis in high school. He ran one sprint in a high school meet—and finished sixth and last.

At Stanford, his brother Sam induced him to try the middle distances with the freshmen candidates. It was then that Templeton took him in hand and soon predicted a brilliant future for him.

Eastman was defeated twice last season by Williams. The Stanford boy triumphed in their first meeting, equaling world record time. Williams turned the tables at Philadelphia—in the same time. In the "rubber" race, on the coast, Williams again won. But Eastman always was learning.

Now he appears to be the United States' chief hope in the Olympic 400 meters... and the 800 meters, too, because "Big Ben" is just as good at that distance. Already this year he has set a world's record for 880 yards—1 minute, 51.3 seconds.

NEXT: Leo Sexton, weight man.

RUTH-BOSTON MANAGER STORY MAY BE TRUE; HE'S THROUGH IN NEW YORK WHEN HIS LEGS QUIT

BY HENRY MCELMORE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, May 26.—(UP)—The unknown subject out in San Francisco who started the report about his royal highness George Herman Ruth, baron of blast, duke of destruction, lord of the long hit and colonel in chief of the Ruppert titles, according to the Ruppert family, is being given the long, loud and raucous laugh by the baseball gentry.

But the unknown subject may have an eye for the ultimate collapse of his royal highness' underpinning, the dimming of his eye, and the miseries of his throwing arm. When that day arrives, when H. R. H. is no longer able to lead King Jake's forces into battle, it is possible he will be told to take it on the lam from Yankee castle and accept the best bid for his managerial services.

Once he outlives his usefulness as a fielder and a steady hitter, Ruth will be of value to the Yankees only as a pinch-hitter. And who can vision the Babe languishing on the bench, waiting to go in three and bat for Oscar McCracken or Leo Banzwiler? Ruth is not the type to spend his time polishing the posterior portion of his expensive trousers on a pine bench. The man is too accustomed to glory, too saturated with the roar of the crowd, to play second fiddle in the dugout.

The Babe is accustomed to big money and the Yankees are not going to lay it on the line in large chunks for an emergency man.

Boston isn't Ruth's first choice as a place to exhibit his managerial abilities. The Yankees are the team he's like. But Ruppert has shown not once, not twice, but thrice, that he doesn't think the Babe is the man to handle his organization. The first evidence of how Ruppert felt on the matter came when little Miller Huggins passed away, and Art Fletcher was offered the job. Fletcher turned it down, and Bob Shawkey was signed.

Then Shawkey was let out and Ruppert again passed up Ruth, this time in favor of Joe McCarthy. And the rugged manner in which the McCarthy machine has been winning ball games, would indicate that Marse Joe is on the high road to becoming a fixture at the stadium. St. Louis, you know, is about the only place where managers get fired for winning pennants.

Just why Ruppert considers Ruth a bad bet as a manager is unknown. There is no doubt as to his baseball knowledge. I have yet to meet a baseball player, or manager who can recall the Babe making a wrong play. Granted that he made plenty of wrong plays off the field, but not in recent years. The old playboy days are buried in the past, and the Ruth of today is sober and responsible.

RECORD CROWD MAY SEE BOUT HERE TONIGHT

One of amateur boxing's few "naturals"—John Stevens vs. "Bud" McCarter—promises to threaten the Orange County Athletic club's attendance record tonight.

The bout has created more gossip in the section's flistic fraternity than any since Promoter Benny Whitman turned 'em away with his second edition of the Jimmie Rivers-Zenaydo Chavez "brudge fight" a year ago.

Stevens is a San Gabriel colored middleweight who recently knocked Lloyd Manderscheid, one of Santa Ana's favorite sons, with a first round punch that left the victim senseless for five minutes and dizzy for an hour.

Stevens Hard Puncher

"Black Jack" looked like the best middleweight in the business shellacking the rugged Manderscheid, and he has been installed a 2-1 favorite over Orange's "Bud" McCarter, a schoolboy who has lost but once in nine starts at Delhi. Henry Pena knocked out McCarter and when Matchmaker Kid Mexico tried to arrange a rematch Pena took a runoff powder. Stevens, anxious to make good here, accepted the substitute's assignment gratefully. Observers figure the Stevens-McCarter bout is a superior attraction than a Pena-McCarter rematch.

Conceding that Stevens is the harder puncher, McCarter hopes to win by outboxing the tall black 165-pounder. With this in mind, McCarter has worked out several times this week with the veteran Kid Mexico who has been instructing him in the use of the left hand in fighting off Stevens' rushes.

Perry, lone in Semi

The semi-final bout of Ed Perry of Anaheim and Rudy Ione, San Gabriel, 142-pounders. Perry has knocked out Everett McDonald, Earl Brown, Vic Orosco and "Buck" Durbin in his last four appearances. Ione stopped Alex Venezuela here two weeks ago. He is from San Gabriel, a stablemate of Main-Eventer Stevens.

Johnny Orosco, Santa Ana lightweight, who either wins by a knockout or is knocked out himself, heads the preliminaries against Louie Rios, San Gabriel.

The rest of the card:

Nat Mills vs. Ed Orosco, 135 pounds; Tony O'Leary vs. Duke Hyder, 114 pounds; Joe Palomino vs. Ritchey Ione, 120 pounds; Ray Lopez vs. Ray Torres, 135 pounds; "Buck" Durbin vs. Harry Warner, 142 pounds; Joe Cencero vs. Felix Marolez, 125 pounds; Hullo Venezuela vs. Lupe Robles, 115 pounds.

LATHROP'S NETMEN REMAIN UNDEFEATED

Julia Lathrop junior high school's tennis team today was still to lose its first seasonal match, having kept the record clear by defeating Tustin, 22-3. The Spartans won every match but one singles affair which went to Tustin. Lathrop matches remain with Costa Mesa, Santa Ana Hi seconds and Anaheim. The scores:

Singles: Imhoff (L) defeated Holmes (2), 6-2, 6-1; Hallman (L) d. Pascoe (2), 6-1, 6-5; Spray (T) d. Aubrey (L), 6-3, 7-5, 7-5; Yerrington (L) d. Plumb (T) 6-7, 6-2, 6-1.

Doubles: Brown and Buchhalter (L) d. Smith and Nison (T), 6-1, 6-1; Forcye and Bradley (L) d. Holmes and Hawley (T), 6-4, 4-6, 6-2.

LONDONS WINS AGAIN

LOS ANGELES, May 26.—(UP)—Two flying tackles, one of which was penalized by the referee, brought defeat to Able Coleman last night in his wrestling bout with Jim London, Greek heavyweight who claims a world's championship.

hooks and slides

william braucher

The release of Joe Boley may be an omen. He is the first of the Athletics of the championship team of 1929-31 to get the release.

Is the old team cracking up? Remember Joe Dugan? Jumping Joe was the first of the great Yankee team to get the air. And since the release of Dugan the Yankees have not won a pennant.

Boley put in his best years at Baltimore. He was a major league shortstop for eight years before he finally came up to the A's in 1927. The reason he stayed at Baltimore was that Jack Dunn put his own prices on every ball player he had, and never wakened. Boley was deemed too expensive.

HE SPARKLED THEN

So Joe Boley was 29 years old when he got his first big league chance. He had passed the peak of his ability, but he still was a great shortstop. My memory of Boley goes back to the splendid defensive game he played in the world series of 1929 and 1930. He wasn't so hot with the stick, but time after time he performed the impossible at shortstop.

But Joe will be 34 years old in July. His legs have failed. He has slowed up unbelievably from that flashing form of only two years ago. Wear and tear finally have claimed their toll. Joe is an old man now.

BING SITS BACK NOW

"Bing" Miller is 34, too. He's on the bench, while Roger Cramer runs the outfield that Bing guarded so well. Bing will be next. He probably knows it. My favorite memory of Bing goes back to the world series of 1929. It was his hit that broke up the last game of the series. His bat rang out for an average of .368 in that series, helping in the great rallies, including that 10-run onslaught against the Cubs.

Jimmy Dykes is older than Boley and Miller by almost two years. He continues to play, but he's good for not more than two years more at third. Jimmy used to be able to take care of short or second, but he'll have to stay at third now. Mack tried him at second one day recently and found that it wouldn't do.

Max Bishop is another whose days are numbered. The brittle second baseman hasn't been able to play a full season since he came to the A's from Baltimore in 1924. Eye trouble has kept him out of the game for nearly four weeks in each of the last two seasons.

WAITING FOR AL

The Athletics made a slow start this season, winning only nine out of their first 21 games. During this period Al Simmons was hitting a puny .290. Until Eric McNair was inserted in the lineup as short, only two of the A's were hitting above .300. Fox and Cochrane, Catcher Heving was hitting .583, but he had appeared in only five games, mostly as a pinch hitter.

When McNair was sent to short, the team started to click again. There were flashes of the old championship form. The big three of the pitching staff began to function with their old effectiveness. The team definitely started on the upgrade. McNair seemed to be the man who turned the tide.

When Simmons begins to hit, the tide will be turned a bit more definitely. For unless Al hits, the A's can go nowhere.

NONCHALANCE—OR WHAT

Bill Ciesell of the Indians insists the Athletics fool the other teams, by their nonchalance.

"They act as if they're sure to win," said Bill, "but if you fight 'em you can beat 'em. They have won a lot of games by giving the appearance of not caring a whole lot because they are going to win anyway."

Clark Griffith, however, has another word for it. His word is Simmons. And when Al begins to hit, the only "cracking up" the A's will undergo will be in regard to fences.

Take Four Cotton Horses to Canada Tracks This Year

SAN CLEMENTE, May 26.—Durrell Cannon, trainer for the Hamilton H. Cotton La Brea racing stables here, will take five horses to the Canadian tracks this summer. Dan Mulherson, president of the San Clemente Chamber of Commerce, will accompany Cannon to the British Columbia tracks, making the sojourn a vacation.

Cannon will take Seguro, a four-year-old; Bolodora, a five-year-old, and Southern Charm, Prisa, Amiable, two-year-olds. These three horses are maidens, as they did not win at Agua Caliente last year. The racing season on British Columbia tracks at Vancouver and Victoria begins July 1.

Paints Black Picture Of Conditions In Russia

PERSECUTIONS DESCRIBED FOR CHURCH GROUP

PLACENTIA, May 26.—"Workship of God in Russia is a criminal offense, and the Russian people are in one large jail, where the millions dare not express themselves," according to A. J. Billester, treasurer of the Russian Faith mission. Mr. Billester talked at Calvary church, Placentia, last night and told of persecutions and murder to a large audience. He is a native of Russia. Mr. Billester likened present conditions to those described in the 13th chapter of Revelation, and said that if the Soviet of Russia is not that spirit of anti-christ, he can imagine nothing that can possibly be that.

In opening his talk, he told of the records of history that show that depressions follow men's turning away from God.

He told of horrible persecutions that follow professing the name of Christ or God in Russia, and of the training of hundreds of thousands of children to openly defy God.

"Sovietism is not concerned only with Russia either," he said. "Sovietism is concerned about the whole world, and is accomplishing her purpose to create a tolerance for her government by using all mistakes of countries to stir up dirt and mire."

He suggested reading a book, "Russia Shakes Her Flat at the World," to acquire a knowledge of the menace that faces the world.

"Russians are not merely atheists under Sovietism; Russians are demon worshippers," he said. "They are devil worshippers in many instances, and the cult of the devil worship is getting more followers daily."

"In schools, the Bible is placed on desks, small red devils are placed between the pages, and children file past, knock their fists on the book, and try to see how many of the devils fly out."

"It was not always so. For the first four years of the Soviet rule, the evangelical church was protected, the Soviet sympathizing with them because they had been oppressed."

Mr. Billester said in spite of this horrible persecution the Gospel is being preached over Russia by missionaries.

NEWPORT BAY LIGHTS EVENT ON AIR SOON

NEWPORT BEACH, May 26.—A colorful story of the development of the annual Tournament of Lights, to be held in Newport bay July 16, is being arranged for radio presentation prior to the event over KJL, one of the series of Southern California's romantic historical programs being given over that station Tuesday and Friday nights.

This was revealed at a meeting of directors of the Newport Harbor Chamber of Commerce last night at the city hall, when a report was made by the committee, headed by H. H. Williamson, which is staging the big lights fete. This event originated in 1908, when John Scarpa, an Italian brought from Venice, Italy, to Venice, Calif., by Abbott Kinney, developer of that community, rowed a gondola from Venice to Newport bay. That year eight canoes made up the parade. Since then it has grown bigger and bigger each year, and last year about 100 craft, big and little, participated and more than 50,000 saw it.

A brief on the Corona del Mar site for the proposed U. S. veterans' hospital, being prepared by the local chamber on behalf of the Legion post of Newport harbor and other posts in Orange county, is almost ready for forwarding to Washington, it was announced by Irvin George Gordon, chairman of a committee handling the matter.

Secretary G. C. Macleod was instructed to write the state department of agriculture outlining what the local chamber is doing toward participation in California Farm Products day, Thursday, June 16. On that day every person and organization in the state is urged to buy and use California farm products.

The chamber will also co-operate with the Newport Beach fire department and other civic organizations in staging a "clean-up and paint-up week" June 6 to 11, inclusive.

YORBA LINDA, May 26.—At 10 a. m. Saturday, June 4, the garden section of the Yorba Linda Woman's club is to present a radio program over KREG including a talk on "Garden Improvement" by Mrs. A. J. Olsen, and a group of musical numbers.

The section, one of the youngest, but most active departments of the club, has 29 members and is headed by co-chairmen, Mrs. Edwin Speckman and Mrs. Emma Curtis. The largest project undertaken this year has been the beautification of the grounds around the new fire station, that have been transformed from bare grounds to gardens of flowers, with plantings that are to eventually be permanent with trees, shrubs and other perennials. At present snapdragons are blossoming and zinnias and gladiolas are growing in gardens about the place.

On Wednesday night Dr. and Mrs. Arthur Nies of North Cambridge street, Orange, are entertaining with a dinner for Miss Ross and Mr. Pattison at a dinner party.

Mr. and Mrs. John Graham, of Long Beach, are to be hosts to the young couple next Thursday for dinner. Mrs. Graham was a roommate of Miss Ross at the Seaside Training school, Long Beach.

On Friday night, the wedding party is to have a dinner at the bride's home. To attend, besides the Ross family, are Miss Marian Sherman, Robert Townsend, Miss Genevieve Townsend, Yorba Linda, Bonnie Hager and Marian Hager, Orange, George Knotts, of Nipomo; Miss Theresa Ross, sister of the bride, and Luther Hadley and Hil-ton Dalessi.

The body was removed to the Dixon mortuary, where it is being held pending a decision from the coroner as to whether or not an inquest will be necessary.

REGULATION OF FISHING BOATS IS REQUESTED

NEWPORT BEACH, May 26.—Extension of the powers of the state fish and game commission, regulation of pleasure fishing boats in the interests of the public, publicity by state organizations of the game fishing resources of Southern California and the injury caused to ocean fish life by naval target practice in certain places and at certain times were the chief matters discussed by the fish and game committee of the state chamber of commerce, which had an all day meeting here yesterday.

The committee members were entertained during the day by the Newport Harbor Chamber of Commerce, Newport Harbor Service club, the Balboa Angling club and other civic leaders. They took a speedboat ride around the harbor in the forenoon, piloted by Harbor Master M. S. Robinson, and attended the noon luncheon of the Service club.

The committee favors extending the fish and game commission's powers to permit relocating, enlarging or altering certain game refuges, to close any lake or stream to all types of fishing (that power at present being confined to trout spawning) and setting the closed season, which can now be done only by legislation.

Some progress is being made in a plan to allow hunting and fishing by the public on private property, under the regulation of the state commission. Property owners would benefit, it was stated, by having a caretaker present.

The state chamber and the All-Year club will be asked to give more publicity to the fishing advantages of Southern California.

The fish and game commission will be asked to make representation to the naval authorities regarding target practice, which in

Man's Best Friend

In history we find the dog is the oldest friend man has among animals—very much the oldest. Compared with him the cat and the horse are new acquaintances. A million years ago dog and man were partners, they have worked side by side; as hunters, guardians, companions, they have fought, loved, lived through the ages. Man has given his life for his dog and the dog has offered and given his life for the master he loved. On the lives of men the dog has left an unerasable, unfadable mark, all for the good. And we are sorry to say the same for mankind's mark on the life of the animal who understands, better than most so-called humans the meaning of Honor, Fidelity and Sincerity.

"Pure-Breds" Versus "Mutts"

When buying a dog, remember that you are selecting a companion for yourself or possibly a play mate for your children for a long series of years and the first cost of a well-bred, intelligent dog with a well established line of ancestry back of him, and the cost of a mongrel dog of uncertain parentage, is hardly worthy of consideration. At Exposition Park in Los Angeles, just recently, a ceremony was held in memory of a famous canine mascot, and four living "heroes". This proved to be more than usual interest when it was revealed that all four of these dogs were "pure-breds". The argument that some misguided persons sometimes pursue, that the "mutt" is smarter than the "pure-bred" received a decided set-back.

Favorite Breeds

To each type of individual appeals a different breed of dog, just as in the world of art and music we do not all appreciate the same style of painting or sculpture, opera or concert. And while we might not desire the same breed as our neighbor, we still can appreciate his point of view and enjoy the enthusiasm he has for his favorite.

The Pekingese

This Oriental toy dog is of great antiquity, as is proved in the art and sculpture of ancient dynasties in China. The Pekingese are the sacred temple dogs of Peking and were so highly revered in ancient times that they were kept behind locked gates in the garden of the royal palace. The first specimens to reach England were smuggled out of China, with great difficulty, in 1860 by Admiral Lord John Hay. These are the ancestors of many of the "Pekes" we have in our dog shows today. The Pekingese is a dog of a very appealing nature, a lovable fellow and most courageous and intelligent. It must not be imagined that a Pekingese is simply a pet—or a lap dog of no redeeming qualities. The Pekingese is a real dog, just as full of fun and frolic and adventure as the most vivacious scamp of a terrier that ever stole his master's slipper; almost as keen on trail as any hunting dog that ever went afield and just as understanding as any breed that has ever been the companion of man.

The Scottish Terrier

The Scottish Terrier or "Scottie" as he is familiarly called, a short legged, stocky bodied, wire coated tyke. He hails from the Highlands of Scotland, where he is used to unearth fox and other "varmints". His great pluck has earned for him the name "die-hard" and usually he lives right up to it. His trustful eye, homely comeliness and whimsical playfulness combine to endear the Scottish Terrier to the hearts of all who come to know him. The long whiskered face; low strong body; short heavy legs and rather heavy though gaily carried tail, are all "earmarks" of the well-bred Scottie. He is all terrier and with all his busy, active ways he combines a dignity and solemnity of manner that is very amusing.

The Scotch Collie

With his dark, wistful eyes, the Collie seems to understand human beings better than do so many other breeds. Perhaps this may be traced back to the origin of the breed in Scotland, where shepherds and their dogs, spent so many lonely hours together watching the flocks. The men undoubtedly talked to their dogs and the dogs came to have a close understanding of the nature of man. In the land of misty mountains one good collie can do the work of a dozen men and there is no other breed which could possibly replace him. He is a handsome dog with all the earmarks of aristocracy and is the cause of more "Ohs" and "Ahs" than any other dog in the show. The collie has been called "the perfect pal" and he seems to justify that classification in all its meaning.

The Boston Terrier

Among the best known of all dogs is that buoyant, irrepressible and violently affectionate dog known as the Boston terrier. Somehow he is always associated in many minds with sunshine and dancing. The Boston is an American made dog, whose bull-terrier ancestors came from England forty or fifty years ago. He is the most scrupulously courteous dog having any bull-dog blood in his veins. Of his millions of owners hardly one could be found to say an unfavorable word for him. Being a terrier he is playful and full of puppy tricks in his youth, but in a season he grows up and becomes a remarkably thoughtful, companionable and dependable pal.

Chow Chows

This distinctive dog is a native of China. The coat of the Chow is a feature which adds touch to his beauty; his fur is very deep and thick which, together with his broad jaw and straight pointed ears, denotes his Arctic derivation. The chows are the favorites among breeders and owners. Perhaps no dog has more individuality nor knows his own mind better than a Chow. He is frisky, playful, intelligent and willing to obey his master implicitly; the rest of earth's population has no interest for him whatever. Away from his master he will not do so much as a glimmer of recognition. Of all breeds the Chow is the most consistently a one family type. He has much courage, a vigilant guard and thoroughly at home with his master no matter where he may be.

The Cocker Spaniel

The Cocker Spaniel is the smallest of the Spaniel breed. An active, playful, intelligent little dog. He sets his name "Cocker" from the use to which he was bred in hunting wood-cock. In color he may be black, red, lemon with or without white. The ears, long and silky, and set low on the head give the Cocker an honest, pleading face with a dignity of manner that he such a dignity of manner that he will win your sympathy at once. As a water dog he is generally considered very fine and is easily trained for hunting. This breed has always been liked and kept as companions as well as guards. The Cocker has such a wheedling way with him that it takes rather a firm nature to withstand his wiles.

The Manchester Terrier

This petit little dog, scarcely weighing six pounds, has had much influence in the formation of many of the present day breeds. A gentleman and popular dog. He is a product of the mining region of Manchester, England and was quite a prominent figure in the holiday sports of that district.

A spirited and courageous little dog, beautifully set up, clean of line as a greyhound. He is entirely black, except for a deep tan that covers the chops and throat, chest, feet and inner sides of legs. His coat is close, fine and glossy, revealing his beautiful muscled, yet delicate frame. He is one of the smartest dogs in the world, responds quickly to training and once trained he never forgets. He is faithful and loyal to "the hand that feeds him" and is justly popular with those who own him.

The Wire-Haired Fox-Terrier

A sprightly, clean-cut little dog of from twelve to twenty pounds in weight. Bright, active, vivacious little rascals, full of fun and mischief and with great courage. The ever alert expression is due partly to the bright rather deep set eyes and partly to the pointed, semi-erect ears which turn inquisitively forward. The jaws, while fine and fox-like, are deep enough to be of good service and as a vermin dog the wire-haired fox-terrier has no superior in courage and willingness to face the music. Always a merry little dog, in fact this breed has become famous far and wide for this characteristic.

The Dog Your Firmest Friend

No matter what breed of a dog you buy, whether he is big, little, long-haired or short-haired, he will give you more than you will give to him. Of all gifts which come to man-kind, that of the dog ranks high in the pleasure he gives to his owner, combining as he does, so many excellent qualities. From the cradle to the grave, at all ages, we find something in a dog to give us pleasure.

— When Royalty Gives It's Touch —

Where the Blue Ribbon Puppies of Orange County are Raised

Having hobbies, provided they are the kind that brings one in contact with a wide circle of interesting people, is one of the finest ways of keeping alive a zest for life. And of all hobbies not one is more glorious than the raising of pure-bred dogs.

Running a kennel of dogs and actually taking a keen interest in all small details connected with the work, foster a spirit of aliveness that is difficult to duplicate. Dog breeding is an intricate, exacting and scientific business. One does not realize its ramifications until one has tackled it. There are an infinite number of things to learn and men who have been in the game for thirty and forty years are still going to school. With everything figured out to a nicety, there still remain the vagaries that Old Mother Nature will inject from time to time, to knock asunder the best laid plans of the most careful breeder. It is always the hope of the "next litter" that adds zest to the hobby. The next litter always gives promise of bringing forth the greatest specimens that ever has been bred.

It is not a money making proposition, this breeding of pure-bred dogs; the reward is to be found in their wonderful companionship—the love of the thing itself.

And then the exhibiting of dogs; one nice thing about a dog show is that it is the dogs that count. Dog shows are taken seriously by the dog loving public and the dog loving public is a large proportion of the whole today. Everyone loves his own dog, but the dog shows give the owner a chance to find out how much the judge thinks of him. The array of quality usually surpasses the fondest hopes of dogmen. Most breeds have entries that tax the keenest judge and it is with honor to those who can walk their dogs through their classes and win the blue or even one of the lesser ribbons.

Dogs, dogs, dogs; Dogs of every size and color. Here are the short legged Sealyhams and the Scotties, all groomed to perfection. Countless wire-haired fox-terriers, the beautiful and stately collies, the best known chows in the country, soulful eyed spaniels and setters, grand old St. Bernards, quaint little dachshundes, snow white Samoyeds from the bleak Siberian plains, toy dogs without number, Pekingese, Manchester Terriers, Griffons, Bostons, Pomeranians, all trying to make themselves conspicuous. One begins to realize what a contest this is; how wonderful it is to raise a dog and have him walk off with the ribbons, finally reaching his championship. One begins to understand the thrill of the game, the enthusiasm that carries owners and their dogs from show to show.

The first dog show, under modern conditions, was held in England only sixty years ago in spite of the fact that dog shows at once became very popular it was not until fourteen years later that there was any organization to regulate such exhibitions. For many years it was not considered "quite the thing" for ladies to enter their pets at bench shows. For a lady to actually lead her dog into the judging ring was considered quite an offense. However, when Queen Victoria, commenced to exhibit her dogs in the late '30's or early '40's, womenkind rejoiced, for they too, could then show their dogs.

And why shouldn't we have dog shows? We have not all forgotten the devotion of dogs to their masters under the most trying conditions. Since the beginning of the great war dogs have had their paw in more than ever. They have done sentry duty in the trenches and, with their masters, patrol duty out on No Man's Land. Full many a time it was the keen ear of the Collie or Scottie or the fox-terrier, that caught the sound of the approaching raiding party. And did he bark? How natural it would have been for him to do so. But he only wagged his tail nervously—information which his master interpreted and acted upon. Dogs have carried dispatches through the rain of shot and shell and, in baskets strapped to their backs, have delivered homing pigeons intended to carry messages longer distances.

Nellie, a fox-terrier, that followed her master through the thickest of the first battle of Ypres, was wounded by shrapnel twice while making her way back to the trenches with a message. But she continued to "go over the top" until brought to America by the Belgian Mission. It is said that at the time of the signing of the Armistice, there was more than ten thousand dogs employed at the battle front. The stories of these individual dogs are many and inspiring. Many of them have been mentioned in the dispatches, numbers have been decorated for bravery or distinguished service, and many, many more have done their bit, the biggest bit it is possible to do, and gone without a whimper, where the best men and the best dogs go.

D. A. V. ELECTS DELEGATES TO NATIONAL MEET

The session of the Jack Fisher chapter, Disabled American Veterans of the World War, at the Legion clubhouse last evening, was marked by enthusiasm as members considered plans for the year. Earl R. Hawks, newly elected commander, presided over a large attendance and his program for the coming year was approved.

A complete report of the state convention recently held at Modesto was submitted by Harry S. Pickard, junior past commander, who was chairman of the delegation. The finest convention on record was held, according to the delegates. Orange county is included in the fourth district under the leadership of Jack Burke, who was a member of the Jack Fisher chapter until he organized a chapter at Riverside and was its first commander.

A report of each delegate serving on the convention committees was heard and special interest manifested in the Americanization and resolutions committee. Of special interest was the platform of the Americanization committee whose program was fostered for the purpose of combating the communistic and pacifist movements which are reported to have secured a foothold in the state of California as well as all over the nation.

Election of delegates for the national convention resulted in the following being selected to represent the Jack Fisher chapter: Earl B. Hawks, Louis A. Riehl, Harry D. Edwards, Harold O. Rasmussen, David R. Day and Fay F. Shirley. Alternates elected were Frank Wolters, James R. Thompson, Harry P. Brewer, Perry L. Cooper, Frank J. Kelly and F. J. DeSutter.

Jack Fisher chapter accepted an invitation to attend Memorial services at the Congregational church, Seventh and Main streets, next Sunday morning. Members are requested to meet at the corner of Seventh and Main at 10:45 a. m.

Attention was also directed to the dedication services of the memorial at the Holy Sepulchre cemetery Monday at 11 a. m. This service follows the regular program at Fairhaven cemetery where the D. A. V. will cooperate with other veteran organizations in honoring the memory of all veterans.

The Memorial day committee urges members to have all flowers at the home of H. O. Rasmussen, 1415 Louise street, Santa Ana, on Sunday afternoon so that they can fulfill their assignments in ample time for the decoration of all graves on Decoration day. James C. Wylie, chairman, reports his committee is in readiness for all the services on Sunday and Monday.

JAYCEE YEAR BOOK WILL BE OUT IN JUNE

With final copy turned in this week for Del Anco, year book of the Santa Ana Junior college, work on the actual publication of the volume is rapidly nearing completion. In the jaycee print shop, according to Miss Dulcie Green, editor of the book.

Under the direction of Thomas E. Williams, who has secured considerable reputation throughout the state within the last three years as a printer of fine craftwork, the year book which will be distributed the second week in June on the campus is probably the most artistic which has yet been presented to local students, Miss Green said. Following the motif of the Olympic Games, the annual is printed in a semi-modern style designed by Miss Goldie Pease, student in the college art department.

Several departments in the year book which up until this edition have been kept separate have been combined in order to make a more compact and interesting publication, Miss Green said. A large portion of the book than usual has been given over to music and drama and to sports, according to staff members.

Bernard Sharpley has served as business manager for Del Anco, and the entire staff has been under the direction of L. L. Beeman, faculty adviser.

SHULER TO SPEAK HERE TOMORROW

The Rev. "Bob" Shuler, militant Los Angeles minister who is a candidate for Senator in the coming elections, will be the featured speaker at the regular meeting of the Santa Ana Knights of the Round Table to be held in Ketter's cafe tomorrow noon. It was announced today by the Rev. Cecil M. Aker, pastor of the Spurgeon Memorial church, who is chairman of the program committee.

D. C. Clafford, well known musical leader of the city, is arranging a special musical program for the meeting.

The Rev. Mr. Shuler is well known for his vigorous flights and has many friends in Orange county. The public is invited to hear his address, which is scheduled for 12:45 p. m.

Native Sons and Daughters Plan Barbecue Sunday

Santa Ana parlors of the Native Sons and Native Daughters of the Golden West will be hosts and hostesses Sunday at a barbecue and dance to be given Sunday in Irvine park. The barbecue dinner will be served at noon.

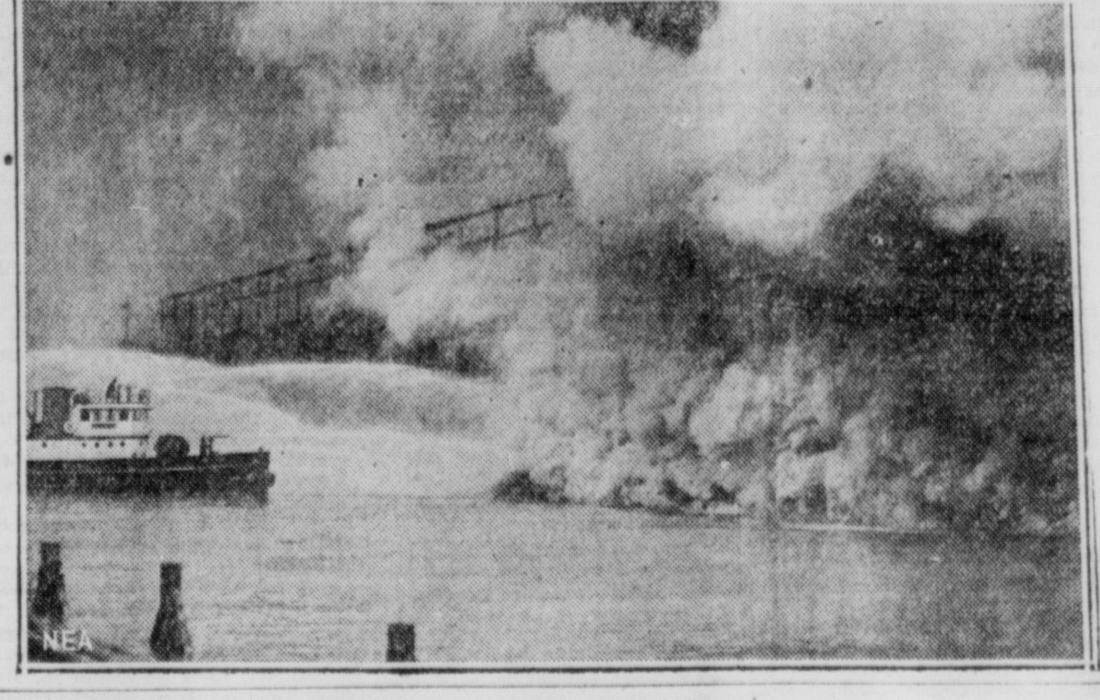

The public is invited to enjoy the day with the two organizations and it has been announced that a nominal charge will cover the barbecue dinner, with a program to follow and dancing later.

An excellent dinner is assured, it is said, through the fact that Dr. C. E. Price is general chairman for the day and will be in direct charge of the barbecue.

OUTING ARRANGED
SAN CLEMENTE, May 26.—Hal Cooley of Three Arch bay, will be host of an outing of the Alumni association of the Kappa Alpha fraternity at his beach front home at Three Arch bay July 9. He has planned a golf tournament at the San Clemente municipal course for the morning. Golfers will travel to San Clemente, take part in the meet and then go to Three Arch Beach for the afternoon's swimming and evening entertainment.

FLAMES DESTROY GREAT PIERS

Behind these rolling clouds of smoke, raging flames were sweeping a $2,500,000 pier of the Cunard Line in New York when this picture was taken. More than 700 firemen, fifty pieces of land fire apparatus and a half-dozen fireboats fought to prevent the blaze from spreading to adjoining piers, and surgeons treated scores of persons affected by smoke. The liner California was moved out into the Hudson river to escape the flames.

MAN WHO VOTED HISTORY OF FOR LINCOLN BAKING TOLD BACKS HOOVER BREAKFASTERS

One of the "Old Guard," perhaps the oldest Republican voter in Orange county, expects to cast his vote for Herbert Hoover at the November elections. Frank Beal, of San Clemente, who will be 90 on December 4, cast his first vote for Abraham Lincoln in 1861. He will vote for Hoover in 1932 and will always be a Republican voter, he says.

Beal came to California as a youth in 1861 and worked in the mines. When he went to San Francisco at election time he was asked to vote for Lincoln. The fact that he was not 21 did not seem to worry the election board. Enlisting in the Union forces, he was transferred east and in 1865 again voted for Lincoln, this time in Maine, where he was on guard duty.

Since 1861, Beal has voted for Presidents Lincoln, Grant, Rutherford Hayes, James Garfield, Benjamin Harrison, William McKinley, Theodore Roosevelt, William Howard Taft, Warren G. Harding, Calvin Coolidge, and Herbert Hoover.

Beal came to San Clemente several years ago from Maine. He has disposed of his property in that state but still owns much land in Iowa, where he was a farmer for more than 20 years.

THEATER GUILD PLAY IS AID TO UNEMPLOYED

Proceeding the entertainment presented in the auditorium, a parade and street concert was given by the Moose band, while the Moose orchestra presented a concert in the auditorium from 7:45 to 8:15. A clever military tap dance, given by four youngsters, preceded the first act, while between acts one and two, Miss Thelma Trickey, ever popular Orange county dancer, presented two clever tap numbers.

A short radio skit with Flery Perkins as the stuttering announcer, Joe Whitsanabe as his assistant, and the Lonely Troubadour as the soloist, was a special feature presented between acts.

Bryan K. Burnett, of Santa Ana, acted as master of ceremonies, and introduced Thomas A. Broderick, chairman of the association, and J. F. Burke, treasurer, who spoke on the work being done by the

Prospective Berkeley Students Honored At Pretty Tea

Acting as hostesses at a high tea given in honor of girls who plan to attend Berkeley next session, the Misses Jane Cunningham and Dulcie Green entertained Sunday evening at 8 o'clock in the home of the former, 1208 North Van Ness avenue.

Guests of honor included—Miss Marjorie Elliott, who has been a student at Berkeley for the past year; Miss Maybelle Hall, Miss Helen Campbell and Miss Marjorie Toomey. Sweet peas in pastel tulle carried out a variety of color scheme, while each guest was awarded a corsage of the same dainty flowers. Tea was served on lovely Japanese china brought by Miss Cunningham herself from Japan. The menu offered an assortment of interesting sandwiches, cakes, candies and nuts.

Conversation which whiffed away the pleasant hour was devoted in the main to the pleasant things awaiting the honor guests in their continued school careers on the northern campus.

Naturalization Class Is Entertained By Native Orders

Approximately 25 members of a local naturalization class, representing nine nationalities, gathered in Knights of Columbus hall this week as guests of the Native Daughters and Native Sons of the Golden West for Americanization exercises conducted by those two organizations.

Members of the class joined with their host orders in presenting a musical program following welcome by Mrs. Raymond Gram, president of the Daughters, and by Walter Hickey, past president of the Sons, who in turn introduced Judge Homer G. Ames, who expressed his pleasure at the opportunity the occasion afforded of meeting the class informally before its members appear for their papers next month.

Program numbers included songs and dances by the Misses Marjorie and Norma Short and Johnny Harms, all pupils of Miss Josephine Biffle of Orange, who accompanied them; by A. Davidson, who sang two selections accompanied by Mrs. E. Dunham at the piano and by Miss Jean Dunham, playing a violin obligato; a song by Clavel Sevillano, trio offerings by the Saez brothers; a song by Andrew Zamudio, accompanied by Oscar Saez; a dance by Mrs. Rachel Zamudio and Raoul Saez, accompanied by the Saez brothers, and a final trio number.

Appropriate remarks were tendered by the class teacher, and the prospective citizens were presented by the two host chapters with American and state flags by Mrs. Matilde Lemon, state chairman of Americanization for the Native Daughters. Thanks for the entertainment were expressed for the class by Mr. Davidson. Refreshments concluded the meeting.

Soucie-Powers Nuptials Precede Departure of Couple for East

A floral arch, improvised of shell pink roses and lacy ferns, afforded an imposing setting for the marriage of Miss Evelyn Soucie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. Soucie, and Clarence C. Powers, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Powers of Lincoln, Neb., when that ceremony was performed last evening in the Soucie residence at 1802 Cypress street by the Rev. Fred N. Willis, acting pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church of this city.

Tall baskets of rosebuds, jaspur and daisies in the pastel tones flanked the arch and enhanced other parts of the room in which nearly 40 relatives and close friends gathered for the service.

Vocal numbers preceded the ceremony, Miss Amelia Martin singing several selections accompanied by Miss Lewis of Whit-

Campus Y. W. Stage "Olympic Meet" in Irvine Park

Concluding the series of semi-monthly Y. W. meetings which have occupied prominent place in campus life for the girls of Polytechnic high school and Junior college, was the unique affair held Monday evening at Irvine park. Internationalism was the dominant theme of the event, so it was natural that an Olympic motif be adopted.

Supper served at 6 o'clock, stressed the international idea with its succession of dishes suggesting various foreign lands, ending with a dessert course of Italian delight and French cream pie.

There was spirited group singing to follow the dinner hour, then everyone entered with enthusiasm into the "Olympic events" which ranged from putting the shot with colored balloons, to a swimming race effected by passing glasses of water high in the air in a relay. Dancing in the pavilion was the final entertainment of the evening, whose features were arranged under the direction of Miss Jane Cunningham, international chairman.

Those present included the two advisers, Mrs. John Tessmann and Miss Noble Whiting, and faculty members, Miss Dorothy Decker and Miss Genevieve Humiston, and the Misses Marian Toomey, Jane Cunningham, Lucile Crawford, Constance Hannah, Donna Crawford, Lucile Relsch, Florence Cokerley, Evelyn Green, Virginia Warner, Evelyn Fairley, Mary Jane Dodd, Violet Johnson, May Hassenjaeger, Elizabeth Drysdale, Charlotte Richards, Eileen McCollum, Lena Danner.

Willard G. A. C. Group Celebrates With Formal Dinner

As the school year draws to a close, it is to the accompaniment of various social activities which brighten the lives of the pretty sub-debs of the junior high school, quite as much as do sorority functions for their older sisters away at colleges and universities. One of the most enjoyable of these was the informal dinner in which members of the Girls' Athletic club of Frances Willard junior high school took part Wednesday night in the Doris Kathryn Tea Shoppe.

Among pretty details of dinner appointments were the many flowers in varying tones of ivory and deep golden yellow, combined with foliage in emphasizing the dominant color theme of yellow and green; deep yellow dinner tapers, and place cards in modernistic design.

Entertainment was effected through a short but enjoyable program presented under the direction of Miss Shirley Lindgren, with Miss Evelyn Shepard, G. A. C. president, as toastmistress. On this program, Miss Helen Markel gave a clever monologue followed by several popular piano numbers played by Miss Shirley Lindgren. Miss Lorraine Turk brought the program to a close with a tap dance followed by pleasing violin solos.

Officers of the club present were the Misses Evelyn Shepard, president; Melvina Moore, vice president; Evelyn Tharpe, secretary; Ruth Ellen Dunlap, treasurer; Jean Munro, point avarder, and Miss Dorothy Broadway, faculty advisor. High nine girls present who are to graduate from junior into senior high school ranking in the class were the Misses Muriel June, Ruth Ellen Dunlap, Margaret Munro, Evelyn Shepard, Lorraine Clark, Betty Goode, Evelyn Dennis, Helen Mair, Helen Markel, Fern Brekner and Florence Liggett.

Russian Entertainment Captivates Audience At Club Musicales

A program series which has been devoted to the music of each of several countries reached an artistic climax last evening in the Russian entertainment presented as one of the final features on the Phi Zeta Musical sorority meeting schedule.

Sorority executives did the honors last night, entertaining members and guests at 622 North Ross street with a program of variety and excellence, its features embracing piano, violin and vocal numbers, as well as dramatic interpretations, all offerings being of Russian origin.

Program and performers were listed in attractive hand-made folders of black and silver, passed among guests as they entered at the conclusion of an hour's business meeting.

As first contributor to the program, Russell Rowland, young pianist of this city, interpreted Rachmaninoff's "Humoresque" with a skill which aroused the admiration of his audience, and which was demonstrated again in his final number, "Prelude in B-flat Major" by Rachmaninoff. Baritone solos followed by Victor Rees, who delighted with two Russian folk songs, "Cossack Love Song" and "Crimson Sarafan." Elaborating on the Russian theme, Miss Georgia Walton played two works by composers of that country, "Berceuse" (Arensky) and "Serenade" (Rachmaninoff), her sympathetic rendering of the respective scores being accompanied, as in the case of Mr. Rees, by Russell Rowland.

"The Bell" was interpreted at this point, Miss Lois Rees following this dramatic offering with a succession of brief poetic selections from the works of representative Russian writers, her skillful approach bringing out the values in each poem read.

Mr. Rowland's final Rachmaninoff number ended the program, which was followed by a half hour's informal reception, during which tea and Russian confections were served by the hostess group, Mrs. Georgia Walton, Mrs. Blanche Owens, Mrs. Mervyn Bryte and Miss Evelyn Metzgar.

Marriage of J. C. Girl To Former Texan Revealed

Mr. and Mrs. J. Lee Martin were established in the home of Mrs. Martin's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George A. Souder, at 603 South Flower street, today, following their marriage, which took place in the home of Justice Kenneth Morrison, 524 Linwood street, Saturday evening.

The wedding of their daughter, Miss Esther Mary Souder, was made by Mr. and Mrs. Souder at a family dinner given in their home last night. Mr. Martin is the son of John I. Martin of 330 Halesworth street.

Guests at the announcement gathering were also in attendance at the ceremony, with but one or two exceptions, and the wedding party following the repast.

Miss Martin had as honor maid, Miss Ruth Souder, while her husband was attended by Frank Thompson. The bride wore as her wedding costume an attractive white apron dress with white straw hat and bridesmaid accessories. Her bridesmaid was gowning in a blue sports outfit, with white accessories.

The bride, a graduate of the Santa Ana High school, is just completing her first year at the junior college, where she has been taking a commercial course. Her husband has been a resident of Santa Ana since January, having come here from San Antonio, Tex., where he received his schooling. He was employed during his Texas residence as an electrician with the Gulf Refining company in their residence temporarily in Santa Ana, but expect to settle eventually in San Diego.

Attending the dinner were Mr. and Mrs. J. Lee Martin, John I. Martin, Frank Thompson, Master Robert Souder, Mrs. Dorothy Gessner, Misses Ruth and Clare Elizabeth Souder, and Mr. and Mrs. George A. Souder.

Miss Cleary Honored At Pre-Nuptial Gift Shower

In making her sister, Miss Betty Cleary, incentive for a delightful bridal shower in anticipation of Miss Cleary's June wedding to Howard Bear, Mrs. Dwight T. Hayden introduced a novel entertainment idea yesterday afternoon in her home at 215 Myrtle street, Tustin.

Amidst the many lovely flowers which decked the home, the interested guests found displayed a series of photographs of the charming young bride-elect, some of them taken in her babyhood days, and continuing from then through her childhood, girlhood and young womanhood. Each guest in turn then told of her earliest recollection of the honoree, and some incident connected with this memory, providing a unique biography of Miss Cleary as well as a pleasant and original form of entertainment.

For the shower features of the afternoon, Mrs. Hayden had supervised a rainbow-hued parasol above her dining table, with garlands in the lovely colors leading to the packages heaped below. When Miss Cleary was asked to open her gifts, she had the pleasure of examining linen, silver, crystal, pillows and even a handsome quilt, selected for her by friends interested in her coming nuptials.

After all the gifts had been admired, Mrs. Hayden, assisted by another sister, Mrs. Frances Thome of Oceanside, served sandwiches, pineapple salad, punch and "matrimonial bars" with whipped cream, using daintily appointed individual trays for serving.

Sharing the happy affair with hostess and honoree were Mesdames G. W. Bittle, E. P. Gaebe, E. Fey, D. A. Bear, Tom McDowell, Charles Carey, Pauline Cleary, Beulah Shannon, Esther Williams, Ione Sharp, Edna May and Fae Meister and the Misses Laura and Esther Zaiser, Audrey Fey, Gladys Young, Santa Ana; Mrs. Marjorie Patterson, Huntington Beach; Mrs. Belle Walker, Newport Beach; Mrs. J. L. Hayden, Tustin; Mrs. Gertrude Cleary and Miss Maude Wright, Oceanside; Mrs. Otto Bartz and daughter, Mrs. Anne, of North Loop, Neb.; Mrs. Bartz and Miss Bartz arrived via Union Pacific Sunday evening for a six weeks' visit with relatives in Santa Ana and Tustin. Mrs. Bartz is a sister of the hostess and the honoree and came to California at this time especially to attend the wedding.

YOU and your Friends

Friendly Guest Group Is Entertained at Bridge Luncheon

Showing their interest in that delightfully Californian way of sending flowers to hostess friends, several guests at a pleasant bridge luncheon yesterday by Mrs. W. E. Ames, added their floral contributions to the colorful blossoms with which Mrs. Ames embellished her home at 1914 North Main street.

Mrs. Adam Zaiser and Mrs. J. E. Paul were among those who artistically arranged baskets while Mrs. James Irvine sent a striking assortment of blossoms from the San Joaquin ranch. These all harmonized with the graceful arrangements which Mrs. Ames had planned as decorations for the card tables at the luncheon hour, and as a background for the bridge games of the afternoon.

When tallies were collected at the close of the card contest, the prizes selected by the hostess were presented Miss Rosa Boyd and Mrs. Howard Timmons, holding first and second high scores.

Mrs. Ames was assisted in pleasant duties of the afternoon by her neighbor, Mrs. A. Turk, and guests asked to share her hospitality were Mrs. Edward M. Nealey, Mrs. W. B. Williams, Dr. Mary E. Wright, Mrs. James E. Paul, Mrs. James L. Allen, Mrs. Fred Newcomb Jr., Mrs. Earl Morrow, Mrs. Robert Tuthill, Mrs. Adam Zaiser, Mrs. Harry Zaiser, Mrs. C. P. Boyer, Mrs. Samuel W. ### Founders' Day

Saturday's celebration of Founders' Day at the David and Margaret home, La Verne, attracted many members of the Santa Ana First M. E. church who shared with hundreds of others from the Southland, in the interesting program presented.

The Rev. R. A. McKibben, pastor of the Church of All Nations, Los Angeles, was principal speaker on the subject, "Enlarging Safety Zones for Children." In his talk he brought out that of the five hundred thousand dependent children in the United States, fully twenty-five thousand were delinquent, and showed the vast amount of good done by such institutions as the David and Margaret, in preventing this juvenile delinquency.

Santa Anans present included Mr. and Mrs. Louis Allen, Mrs. E. Beamer, Mr. and Mrs. Don Welling-ton, Miss Marjory Lusk, Miss Gertrude Lee, Mrs. John Turton, Mrs. A. R. Olin, Mrs. A. R. Montgomery, Mrs. Carl Wieseman, Mrs. E. R. Childs, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Plack, Mrs. Harry Chapman, Mrs. J. C. Gardiner, Miss Irma DeBarry, Mrs. Phillip Blower, Mrs. P. L. After dinner a delightful program was given in the main assembly room, with Miss Ruth Warner voicing the "Welcome to Mothers," to which response was made by Mrs. Vall Crawford, Mrs. A. V. Gray, for many years a worker in the Chinese mission field, talked on "Mothers and Daughters in China," and Mrs. Davenport, a present worker in the foreign field, spoke on "Mothers and Daughters in Venezuela." The program ended with a clever puppet show presented through the courtesy of Walter Kring.

The MIXING BOWL by ANN MEREDITH

Ann Finds a New Idea in Car Polish

I expect I ought to be taken out at sunrise and shot for advising owners of cars of pre-depression vintage to do their own job of permanent polishing with that new quick-drying, non-polishing wax that's on the market.

When I bought it I looked at its milky aspect with a doubting Thomas eye, but after what I saw it do to a dingy, painted lamp shade and to the kitchen linoleum, I decided it was good enough to clean up the little family car. So, we washed it, wiped off its nose and dug out its ears, gave it a rub with the liquid wax, and rolled in snowy glory down to the market and up the "avenue."

Of course, I wouldn't advise its use on new cars whose paint is still good, but for the old, dingy cars it certainly is a life-saver. Just ask for the wax you wipe on and don't have to polish. In 20 minutes it is dry and shiny.

TODAY'S RECIPE

Chicken and Oyster Pie (For Six or Eight)

A medium sized stewing hen 2 strips of bacon 1 quart of boiling water Salt, pepper and minced onion for seasoning Butter and flour to thicken gravy

1 pint of oysters, cut in pieces Pastry to line dish and cover top

Butter for seasoning pie filling I had this in mind when I was marketing this morning. I saw some hens that were past the roasting age priced at 13 cents per pound, and thought how good they would be cooked this way or as I cook my Chicken Creole. And, by the way, although I have published that creole recipe dozens of times, it is due for another appearance in a few days.

Clean and unjoint the hen, cover with boiling water, add the bacon cut in dice and simmer the whole slowly until the hen is tender. More water should be added as needed, of course. Do not season until done.

Have about three tablespoonfuls of butter and flour rubbed together, stir into the hot broth to make a thin gravy. Season, now, with minced onion, salt and pepper, and set off the fire.

Line a deep casserole with a

Final showing of the new Joan Crawford picture, "Letty Lynton," with Robert Montgomery in the principal male role, will be made at the Fox Broadway theater today. The picture opened here last Sunday and has enjoyed one of the big weeks of the year.

The story is strictly modern, based on a girl's life who having lived freely in South America, finds that her past catches up with her when she reaches New York and wants to hide it. There is a killing and a murder trial and the interest is kept up to the very start.

Miss Crawford was never better and Montgomery gives his usual performance—almost perfect.

How About It, Bill?

By MARTIN

The Scrub-a-dubs had sung their song and Scouty said, "Well, I was wrong! I didn't think that you could sing, but you've done very well."

"You've told us of the work you do, in sing-song, and now that you're through, I wonder, is there anything else that you wish to tell."

"Well, yes!" one Scrub-a-dub replied. And then he stopped and sadly sighed. "Our own house must be spick and span. The cleaning up to us."

"You see, the place in which we live, a good impression ought to give. We do not like to work at home, but there's no use to fuss."

***

"We'll wash the windows till they shine. Then we can see right through them fine. We'll scrub the floors and dust the walls. Oh, it won't take so long."

"You Tynmites can watch us now and, very soon, we'll show you how to make things look refreshing, while we sing a little song."

The bucket then cried, "I'll get filled with water. Gee! I hope one's spilled." It scampered off and came right back. And then it cried, "Let's start."

"Come, mop, just dip your head in me and scrub as hard as hard can be. If we're to finish up this job, we all must do our part."

***

The Scrub-a-dubs worked while they sang. Real clearly their loud voices rang. "Four little Scrub-a-dubs are we. Our job's to make things bright."

"We do the best that we can do. Then everything looks just like new. We're going to finish our own house, if it takes us all night."

Soon Scouty, as he watched the bunch, cried out, "I have a happy hunch. I'd hate to see you Scrub-a-dubs work on, throughout the night."

"We'll gladly lend a helping hand." One Scrub-a-dub said, "Say! That's grand." And so the Tynmites turned in and worked with all their might.

Twenty-Four Hours That Made History

By HENRY W. LAWRENCE

FEBRUARY 15, 1898. A sultry night in Havana Harbor. The sky overcast, starless, black. It is unseasonably hot for February, so hot that everybody is aware of it and making efforts to keep cool, even on the ships at anchor in the bay.

Passengers on the Ward liner, City of Washington, are wearing summer clothes and imbibing summer drinks. Officers and crew of the nearby warships, the Alfonso XII of the Spanish navy and the Maine of the American, are taking their own measures to escape the humid heat.

Captain Sigsbee of the Maine has taken off his blouse and is wearing a thin civilian coat. Members of the crew are finding quite sufficient for comfort and decency a single garment, a pair of trousers, as they lounge off duty just before turning in for the night.

It is precisely 9 o'clock. The Maine's captain, seated in his quarters, has finished a few minutes ago a report to the assistant secretary of the navy, Mr. Theodore Roosevelt, on the advisability of continuing to place torpedo tubes on board cruisers and battleships.

And now Captain Sigsbee has turned to a more difficult task. He is writing a letter to his wife, trying to explain and palliate his outrageous crime of carrying in his pocket for 10 months a letter for Mrs. Sigsbee, entrusted to him for delivery, by one of her intimate friends.

FINDING himself in such a jam, the captain looked up from his task in some relief as the musical notes of "taps" began to sound, at just 10 minutes after 9.

"I laid down my pen to listen to the notes of the bugle," he writes, "which were singularly beautiful in the oppressive stillness of the night. The marine bugler, Newton, who was rather given to fanciful effects, was evidently doing his best. During his pauses, the echoes floated back to the ship with singular distinctness, repeating the strains of the bugle fully and exactly. A half hour later, Newton was dead."

At 9:40 o'clock, there was no sound on shipboard save the hum of the dynamos, and, in the captain's cabin, the slight rattling of paper as he folded his apologetic letter to his wife and started to place it in its envelope. At that second, precisely, there came, with most infernal roar and clatter, the end of the world, for nearly the entire crew of the Maine.

What had been, at 20 minutes before 10, a powerful battleship and a vigorous crew, became a few seconds later a flaming, roaring chaos of twisted metal and tortured human flesh. Out of a crew of 328, only 16 escaped injury; 260 were killed.

"Very few are now recognizable," Captain Sigsbee wrote later. "Even in the case of some of those who are hurt, but live, recognition is difficult."

During the war which came not long afterward, the United States navy suffered the loss in conflict of 17 men altogether; approximately one-fifteenth the number blasted from sleep into death by this monstrous peace-time catastrophe.

CAPTAIN SIGSBEE groped his way toward the main deck, in the sudden darkness which followed the shattering of the dynamos, and collided violently with somebody who proved to be his orderly. In strict accord with naval etiquette, the orderly apologized; then gravely announced that the ship had been blown up and was sinking.

They scrambled to the main deck, then, as the ship sank, went on to the poop deck, which was soon close to the water line. A fire broke out amidships, and spare ammunition began exploding, and continued to do so till 2 o'clock the next morning.

Meanwhile rescue boats for the sailors, struggling in the surrounding water, put out from the sinking Maine and also from the nearby vessels, including the Spanish warship and the Ward liner, City of Washington. Inspection showed that nothing further toward rescue could be done, and as a major explosion of the ammunition in the forward 10-inch magazine seemed imminent, the survivors stepped on this upper deck directly into a small boat alongside and were rowed to safety aboard the City of Washington.

Here Captain Sigsbee drafted a telegram, on the ship's stationery, to the secretary of the navy. It read:

In the explosion that swept the United States into war with Spain, the American navy lost 260 men . . . and in the war itself, just 17

stances under which he wrote, and then modified, the message, so that it might produce the best effect on American public opinion:

"The relations between the United States and Spain had reached a condition of such extreme tension that the patience of the people of the United States was about exhausted. Realizing this fully that night, I feared the result of first impressions of the great disaster on our people, for I found it necessary to repress my own suspicions."

"I wished then, as a matter of national pride and duty, to take time for consideration. . . . It seemed also to be a duty of my position to sustain the government during the period of excitement or indignation that was likely to follow the reception of the first report; therefore I took the course of giving to my telegram an uncommonly strong advisory character."

AT 2 o'clock the next morning, Wednesday, February 16, Captain Sigsbee turned in to get a few winks of sleep before the hectic day that he knew was ahead of him. At the same hour, in the far-away city of Washington, a member of the household of John D. Long, secretary of the navy, was knocking softly on the bedroom door of that official.

After the awakening and apology, the secretary received and read an astonishing telegram, the one quoted above, from Captain Sigsbee. Though Secretary Long may have been half asleep at the beginning, at the conclusion of his reading he was more than wide awake. He phoned President McKinley at once, realizing that the tragic news was of incalculable importance.

The president was almost flabbergasted by the startling news. He paced the floor in amazement, almost consternation, repeating over and over: "The Maine blown up! The Maine blown up!" McKinley had long favored peace with Spain, but he didn't quite dare be firm in the matter, against a carefully stimulated war fervor that seemed to be growing in Congress and the country.

"MAINE blown up in Havana Harbor tonight and destroyed. Many wounded and doubtless more killed or drowned. Wounded and others on board Spanish man-of-war and Ward Line steamer. Send lighthouse tenders from Key West for crew and the few pieces of equipment above water. No one has clothing other than that upon him."

"Public opinion should be suspended until further report. All officers believed to be saved. Jenkins and Merritt not yet accounted for. Many Spanish officers, including representatives of General Blanco, now with me to express sympathy."

The captain describes as follows the circumstances under which he wrote, and then modified, the message, so that it might produce the best effect on American public opinion:

THE bold and stubborn methods of his predecessor, Cleveland, did not appeal to McKinley's prudence. Moreover, public opinion had moved a long way toward readiness for war since Cleveland's time, thanks largely to the unceasing and sensational efforts of certain newspapers.

The Maine incident was only the latest in a long series of outrages on the part of Spain which had been elaborately exploited by the sensational press during the preceding months. The Spanish ambassador, de Lome, had written, in strict privacy, a letter to a friend, in which he said very uncomplimentary things about President McKinley. His letter containing these remarks was stolen and printed.

Still more lurid was the Cisneros rescue. Senorita Evangelina Cisneros, daughter of an insurgent, was kept in a Cuban jail by the Spaniards for thoroughly improper reasons, so it was said by the New York Journal. After much plotting, a representative of this crusading American newspaper broke into the jail where the "Cuban Girl Martyr" was languishing and lifted her out, smuggled her aboard an American steamer, and displayed her widely as Exhibit A of Spanish infamy. The "Girl Martyr" was given a huge reception in Madison Square Garden, New York.

PERHAPS the prize, however, for provocative sensationalism should go to the affair of the lady passengers on the American steamship Olivette. A dispatch from Richard Harding Davis, the Journal's Havana correspondent, was published under the heading, "Does Our Flag Protect Women?"

The story told how, just as the Olivette was about to leave Havana for the United States, she was boarded by Spanish police officers who insisted upon searching the persons of three young Cuban ladies, suspected of carrying insurgent dispatches.

A half-page drawing, by the famous Fred-eric Remington, showed the shameless Spanish officials conducting their search while a suspected young lady stood before them stripped of all her clothes. America was shocked.

It is just here that the Journal's deadly rival in jingoistic sensationalism, the World, enters the story.

It obtained from one of the young ladies a flat denial of the alleged improper searching, and finally forced the Journal to back down. The story, nevertheless, attracted vastly more attention than its denial, and helped along the rising tide of hostility toward Spain.

It was this rising tide that filled President McKinley with dismay, as he heard of the Maine's destruction. A visitor who conferred with McKinley that evening remarked that he had "never before seen the president in so serious a mood nor so careworn in appearance." The war was looming, and now he could not stop it. America would "Remember the Maine."

MAYOR WALKER WISECRACKS AND THE POPULACE LAUGHS

Mayor Walker apparently made a smart impression on journalists as well as Tammany cohorts at the hearing yesterday. His wit and glibness; his clothes, his popularity are emphasized with despatch. When one reads the lines of repartee which brought shouts of acclaim from the gang of friends which filled the hearing room, one is sickened. It reminds one of a naughty little boy who, having been amusing to his elders, continues to try, in the face of really serious transgressions, to win them by saucy remarks which reveal that after all he is still a crude little savage, without any perception of important right and serious wrongs. Mayor Walker's remarks don't read as though they were very clever. Almost anyone can be crude and brazen if he is devoid of any moral sense.

There have been investigations of Tammany before this. There have been attempted clean-ups. Tammany goes on to sin some more. Never before in the history of Tammany has there been such brazen defiance of public rights. Not even in the days of "Boss" Tweed, who when confronted with serious evidence of graft, said: "What are you going to do about it?" Mayor Walker is a fearful phenomena. He is not a type; he is a personality. But there is expressed in him some terrible lack in men and women today. His popularity is astonishing. The hearing is being held in his own balliwick. In addition, Mayor Walker has been publicized by the press and the magazines, so that the natural appeal of his Irishman's wit has been increased to the point of being a menace. His personality has actually been set up as a standard!

A cartoon appeared in one of the manazines a short time ago illustrating this. A young boy was playing the part of his hero, as boys have always done. In days gone by they were Buffalo Bills, then they were Al Berghers, they were Indian chiefs, explorers, big game hunters. This particular boy was pretending that he was Mayor Walker.

Illustrating what the magazines and newspapers have done for Mayor Walker, one of the magazines a month or two ago carried a double page of photographs of Mayor Walker in different poses, including a photograph of him taking a sun bath at Palm Springs, dressed as a Gandhi, except for a Basque beret. Proper moral sense would dictate that Mayor Walker be nominated for oblivion instead of being made a hero.

One of the correspondents, at the hearing yesterday, predicted that Judge Seabury would never "get" Mayor Walker. If that correspondent were here on the west coast reading about the hearing, his opinion might be different. He has been taken in by the drama of the hearing, the hurrahs of the crowd, the savvy of the Mayor. Judge Seabury and a corps of workers for months have been collecting evidence of the malfeasance of Mayor Walker and those in league with him. Yesterday at this spectacular hearing it was brought out that the Mayor admitted $246,692 stock profits that didn't cost him a cent, his $10,000 European trip was linked with a huge bus franchise. How do his crude remarks compare with that?

Mayor Walker is absolutely devoid of moral perception. He evidently has no consciousness of guilt. He is incapable of feeling that he has betrayed public trust. He is one of those menaces the psychologists tabulate who is devoid of emotional reaction, incapable of feeling the mores of society.

Democracy has been and is dependent for its very existence upon the sense of betrayal which the grafting of public servants arouses in its members. In the hearing in New York there is a terrible performance. Democracy is being thrown to the lions. And Mayor Walker, devoid of moral sense, is wisecracking. Legend records that Nero played while Rome burned; the Emperors and Senators of Rome joked while the victims were being thrown to the wild beasts, too, and Rome fell. What hope is there for society when such a man as Mayor Walker is a hero? And what hope is there for Democracy when the populace thinks more of a cheap show, of sartorial perfection, of repartee, than it does of violations of public trust?

THE MARINES "DO THEIR STUFF"

Our Marines down in Nicaragua should be congratulated. They succeeded in killing 17 "rebels" yesterday by bombing from the air. These 17 whom they killed were the followers of General Sandino, who has been for years opposing the government which he declares to be unconstitutional.

The American troops are down there to guard elections. Elections are going to take place some time in the fall. This was not exactly a practice skirmish for the protection of the booths when the election occurs; it was for the protection of the government.

If Sandino can read the American papers, the doings in Chicago and in New York, read of gangster control and Mayor Jimmy Walker's large and juicy income from special interests who are seeking friendship from the city government, he must carry an ironic smile.

Our Marines, down there killing the Nicaraguans, in order to give them the kind of government they ought to have, to make them good or better—is pretty strong evidence that we have lost our sense of humor. It wouldn't be bad if we brought them home, so as to teach us here how to preserve and carry on good government.

And then when you are taught with a bullet, you stay taught. We are very confident that these 17 sons of Nicaraguan mothers will never again attempt to question the power or propriety of the government that is over them. When Uncle Sam stands with the government of a Central American state, those who oppose it on any ground, should know better than to let that opposition make them active.

The occurrence adds weight to the leading article in the June number of Harper's Monthly. K. K. Kawakami, defending Japan's activity in Manchuria and Shanghai, cites episodes in the history of the United States, and other countries similar to this one in Nicaragua. His logic, in thus calling upon history to bear witness to the lack of originality in Japan's activity, is something for us to think about. Because someone does something which is wrong does not excuse someone else from doing a wrong. If a thing is right, it is right, and if it is wrong, it is wrong, no matter how many times it is done, nor by whom, nor with what provocation.

We feel that we ought to apologize to Japan for interfering in China, particularly when there was a civil war going on. Japan, like ourselves in Nicaragua, was undoubtedly there for the purpose of giving the Chinese a better government, and protecting the Japanese ideals. Why shouldn't the bigger and more powerful nation run affairs in any area? We have to have somebody run them. It is either the big fellows or the little fellows, and the big fellows, while not so numerous, are certainly more capable and they know just in whose interest they are doing it.

HITLERITES IN ACTION

There was a real battle in the Prussian Diet yesterday. Not only was the hall wrecked, and furniture destroyed, but there was serious physical injury to a small number of members, and slight injury to many others.

The Hitlerites, by force, simply drove the Communist members from the hall. The news reads a great deal like the account of a meeting of the unemployed in some cities, where they are charged with being "Reds," and the meeting dispersed.

There are those who insist that in case the legislative body makes a declaration of war that the members shall be the first who are forced into the army. This gang in the Diet does them one better. They are the "shock troops" even before war is declared.

They, at any rate, have the courage of their prejudices. It is a terrible commentary on the trustworthiness of the Hitlerites for orderly and Constitutional government. But for an imitation of an Irish brawl, the Germans are 100 per cent.

Poetry—With or Without

The Christian Science Monitor

A group of ultra-modern French poets gave themselves a banquet in Paris a short time ago, and, after dinner, feasted whatever part of themselves remained hungry by reading to one another poems of their own composition. Although not so stated, it may be supposed that these poets were successful ones—else how the banquet? Of course, there is nothing very startling or new in the information that they read their effusions aloud. This is a practice common among poets, and, so far, no one has been more than moderately successful in doing anything about it.

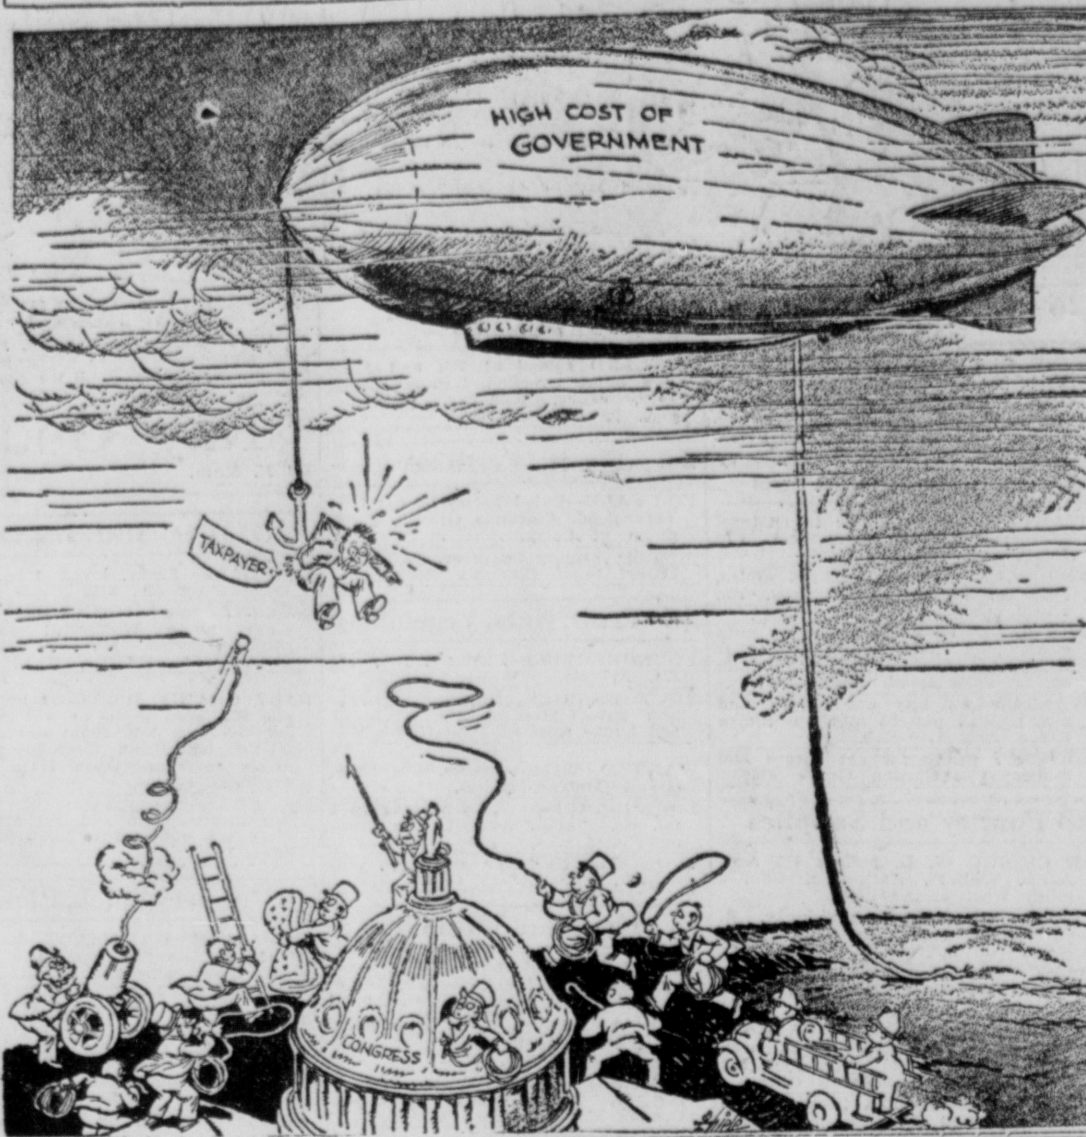

But these poets invented something a little different for the evening's entertainment. All the poems to be read, they announced beforehand, must be written without the use of adjectives. Simplicity was the cry! The adjective has had its today, they proclaimed, and the poetry of tomorrow must be denuded of its many-colored coat of modifiers. Hew to the line and let the nouns fall where they may, but keep the adjectives between the covers of the dictionary.

Now, none of these poems have, as yet, reached the United States, but a writer in Le Temps knew what was coming and registered, with vigorous cries, an early protest. He believes poetry without adjectives would be merely barren prose. This French critic of his fellow countrymen is fond of adjectives, in three, and cited several famous examples to what, he hoped, would be the embarrassment of the adjective reducers. He also believes the adjective gives color, music and variation to poetry, and his battle cry is "Vive l'adjectif!"

Those who look on at a distance may find themselves ready to agree that the adjective and adverb are often given too much work. It has never been easy to convince writers that two adjectives may not be better than one, or that doubled adverbs are not always "very, very" good. But the defender of adjectives and adverbs is undoubtedly entitled to a hearing; especially if he quotes the last lines of Walter De La Mare's "The Listeners"—

And how the silence urged softly backward,
When the plunging hoofs were gone.
Perhaps it were well to maintain with Ralph Waldo Emerson that nothing should interfere with the swift utterances of the heart; neither adverbs, adjectives nor, for that matter, the lack of them.

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

SUBMITTING A PROOF

Upon reading that doctors of science

A wholly new method have found

Of bringing to terms bugs and microbes and germs

By wracking their systems with sound,

I could hardly refrain from upraising

My voice in a series of cheers,

Said I: "Any noise that a microbe destroys

Like music will fall on my ears."

These scientists maybe don't work very fast

But they've licked these malignant offenders at last.

So, when ill with a cold a week later,

I rejoiced at the racket and roar

And the rattle and bang from a laboring gang

Who were building a flat house next door.

I smiled at the clangor of taxis

And the eerie and unearthly din

That sounded aloof from a lad on the roof

Who was plating the penthouse with tin.

"These noises are somewhat unpleasant," I said,

"But the germs that absorb 'em will groan and drop dead."

But that was along before Christmas

And the bugs that first rendered me ill

Paid no heed to the sound that was roaring around

But are preying like wolves on me still.

In fact, I am fully persuaded

I think they've increased by ten billion at least

Since the day when I first caught my cold.

That they're growing more savage and bold;

And so in the face of those scientist boys

I contend that a microbe grows fat upon noise.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

WE ARE NOT RUSSIA

W. B. Donham, in his Business Looks at the Unforeseen, interestingly point out the fact that the great civilizations of the past have been built upon reasonable economic security for selected groups.

Athens built her civilization on slavery. England founded her achievements for more than a hundred years on a more or less submerged labor group.

Our civilization, with its rapidity and volume of production, cannot, he pointed out, maintain itself by giving reasonable economic security to selected groups.

We must strike for reasonable economic security for the whole mass of our people. It is becoming increasingly doubtful that this wide spread economic security for the masses can be secured without some statesmanlike and fundamental alterations in our traditional adherence to laissez faire individualism.

This has led many theorists to jump hastily to the conclusion that the Russian experiment, which for the time being has virtually rung the death knell of individualism, offers an illuminating example for us.

But we are not Russia! the drastic difference between the Russian problem and the American problem, the highly centralized politico-economic control which will mean, for a time, progress for Russia would mean paralysis for the economic life of America.

Russia is engaged in a pioneer industrialization of her life, while we are far along the road of industrialization.

This means that Russia is applying to a virgin field the discoveries, the inventions, the engineering technique, and the managerial methods that have been developed under a regime of private initiative and private property in other nations.

"The fact that Russia today has virtually no unemployment problem is not because of her communistic politics but because she is in this pioneer phase of industrialization and is keeping everybody busy providing the nation with factories and equipment."

When she has completed this pioneer job, Communistic Russia will face the same problem of a balance between production and consumption that capitalistic America now faces.

Ours is a different problem and calls for a different plan.

TROUBLESOME HABITS

Little children have some troublesome habits that worry their mothers out of all proportion to the harm they do the children. Still, they are very undesirable and the sooner they can be broken the better.

Little children suck their thumbs, at least many of them do. We like the picture a baby makes lying in his crib placidly sucking his wee thumb, but it won't do. It won't do because sucking a thumb spoils its shape. Continued sucking of it will mar the shape of the child's mouth, pushing the upper teeth forward, changing the shape of his lips. Take the thumb out gently, say, "No, no," and immediately give the child something to play with, something that will distract his mind from himself.

You see, when a child sucks his thumb, his conscious mind is off duty. He is drifting along in the easy current of his subconscious mind. Here no thinking is required, no attention, no strain. Perfect peace, adrift on the gentle stream, is his. And that won't do him any good. Not for long. Dreaming idly is a luxury we may indulge in at long intervals when we have earned a session of repose, but not before. Idle dreaming with a thumb for company gets just nowhere.

Keep the child busy, happily occupied. Give his body and mind sleep, his daily program in respect to his health. Rarely will a happy healthy child form a habit of this sort. It is easier far to prevent than to cure.

When the habit has been set search the child's environment for the possible cause. Go over his daily routine. His diet, his health habits, his play, his associations with other people. If he is lonely, if he is in fear, if he feels at a loss, he will seek his thumb for comfort. If you discover the cause of his need of comfort you can supply the want and the habit will fall into disuse and vanish.

Usually a child sucks his thumb, bites his nails, twists a lock of his hair, sucks his cheeks, bites his lips, makes a face, whatever his comfort-seeking habit may be when he feels alone. Rarely will you find him practicing undesirable habit when he is conscious of what he is doing. His conscious mind has been dismissed because it makes the child uneasy, unfit, and he loses himself in the subconscious mind that offers dreams and sweet peace.

What is to be done about it? Try, gently, with understanding patience, to bring his situation to his conscious mind. Get him to WISH to stop the practice. He will readily say he does wish he could stop but that is the conscious mind that is speaking. It will take time, or some unprecedented happening to touch the deep mind where the idea lies. Punishment does little; rewards do little; scolding does not help. The only way I have ever discovered that helps at all is by way of the unconscious mind to the conscious mind.

That is reached by constant repetition, constant calling the attention of the child to the situation. If possible place a mirror where he can discover himself at the practice. This is one of the best ways. Keep him physically fit, happy and busy. And don't spare your teaching, your patience and endurance. It is a long story.

TODAY IS THE WORLD WAR ANNIVERSARY

GERMAN DRIVE EXPECTED

On May 26, 1918, German shock troops were reported concentrating on the Chemin des Dames sector of the western front for their third major offensive of the year.

French forces, opposing them had been reinforced, but only to a slight extent, and Allied experts were fearful that the German storm troops might again break through, as they had against the British in their March offensive.

It was estimated that nearly 250,000 American troops could be thrown into the breach in case of necessity, and several divisions were being held in readiness.

The railway station at Liege, Belgium, was destroyed in a raid by Allied planes. Twenty-six persons were reported killed there.

In an effort to collect judgment of $7550, and $116.20 awarded him by the superior court of Orange county and upheld in a decision by the fourth district court of appeals, Joseph P. Henry Jr., through his guardian J. P. Henry has filed a petition for writ of mandate in superior court.

In the petition for the writ Earl A. Gardner, Nina R. Knapp, E. M. Dozier, Carrie S. Chaffee, and E. A. Wakeman, members of the board of trustees of the Garden Grove Union High School district; Ray Adkins, county superintendent of schools; John C. Young Henry had three fingers severed from his right hand March 17, 1930 while a student at the Garden Grove high school. He was operating a jointer machine in the manual training department of the school at the time of the accident.

Declaring that the machine was unsafe for operation through negligence in maintenance young Henry sued the district and was awarded damages of $7550 and costs amounting to $116.20 on September 17, 1930.

The superior court decision was appealed by the school district trustees and affirmed, January 4, 1932.

According to the petition filed yesterday Henry has, in writing, demanded payment from the board and was informed by the board, through the principal of the high school, that the matter had been tabled indefinitely.

The petition is urging the court to order the board of directors of the Garden Grove Union High School district to include the amount of Henry's judgment in its budget for 1932-33 and to collect a tax sufficient to pay the demand.

Although the Basque woodchopper is a rugged, difficult fighter, Mickey is expected to have little difficulty in taking the decision over him. There is little likelihood of a knockout because nobody has ever stretched Paulino on his back.

Paulino will outweigh Walker about 200 pounds to 170.

Another date broken... Couldn't stay on her feet a minute longer! Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound always relieves cramps. Try it next month.

Bulgin spoke on the subject, "Christian Science." Music was furnished during the evening by a quartet from the Paul Rader Tabernacle in Los Angeles, also by Mr. and Mrs. James E. Campbell, of Hollywood.

During his introductory remarks Dr. Bulgin scored "politics," citing a local case where John Wilson, who has been running a taxi cab in Santa Ana was arrested for operating without a license, after having been refused a license by the city council. The evangelist said that Wilson has been driving him about, and has offered to drive people to his meetings for nothing. He has previously been in court on a charge of operating without a license, but was discharged after the trial some time ago and was arrested again Tuesday.

"It is a dirty free-for-all, that dirty political game that has put us in the condition we are in today. If you are an American citizen and want to help a man out, you help him out. This man is a member of the Nazarene church. If you all want to play fair, let's hear it!" The audience responded en masse to this appeal. "That's what is the matter with this government," continued Bulgin, "graft, graft, graft, right along the line."

Evangelist Bulgin, in commenting upon certain passages in the Christian Science text book, Science and Health, with key to the scriptures, by Mary Baker Eddy, had Mrs. U. E. Harding read from that book. Mrs. Harding read from page 359, as follows: "I have healed infidels whose only objection to this method was, that I as a Christian Scientist believed in the Holy Spirit, while they, the patients, did not," Dr. Bulgin said. "If that is admitted, ladies and gentlemen of the jury, that infidels can get the benefit of this thing without becoming Christians, what right have they to claim that it is Christianity? I believe in divine healing and if they would stick to that and not hit the word 'Christian' onto it, then I wouldn't say a word."

Mrs. Harding read from page 140 where Mrs. Eddy says, "The Jews tribal Jehovah was a man-projected God, liable to wrath, repentance, and human changeableness. The Christian Science God is universal, eternal, divine love, which changeeth not and causeth no evil, disease, nor death."

In commenting on this passage, Dr. Bulgin said: "She says tribal Jehovah. How could he be a tribal Jehovah, and the Lord God of the Universe? The only God there ever was?"

In closing Dr. Bulgin said, "I claim Mrs. Eddy is wrong because she claims to be the key to the scriptures. * * * What is the definition of Science? That which is known, or that which is proven. How do you know a thing? Through the five senses—sight, hearing, feeling, smelling and taste. * * * Christian Science makes claims for things it doesn't do. * * * It is contrary to the Bible. The Bible says Christ suffered pain; Christian Science says there is no pain. The Bible says Jesus Christ died and was resurrected. Christian Science says He wasn't dead at all."

Dr. Bulgin said that Thursday night he will preach on the subject "Was Moses Sanctified?" Friday night on "The Unpardonable Sin," and Saturday night will be temperance night, and his subject, "Bulgin on Blackstone, Bootleggers and Booze."

GOVERNMENTAL COST TOO HIGH GRAINMEN TOLD

ENID, Okla., May 26.—"The cost of government in this country is reported to have been 17 per cent of the entire national income last year and it is reliably estimated that it will be from 22 to 25 per cent of that income during the present year," declared C. D. Morris, assistant to the chairman of the Western Railways' committee on Public Relations, Chicago, in an address at the annual convention of the Oklahoma Grain Dealers association in session here today.

Continuing, Mr. Morris said: "No people on earth can possibly prosper so long as such conditions prevail, nor will it materially improve the situation to balance the Federal budget unless that balancing is brought about by spending less rather than by collecting more."

"While it is true that business conditions have been bad for more than two years by reason of a world-wide economic depression, the acuteness of the present situation is undoubtedly due to the failure of our government to have recognized existing economic conditions two years ago, as private industry did, and begun to prepare then for the inevitable. For more than two years we have been reading almost daily of private industry reducing its expenses in every possible way, while very few reports of reductions in the cost of government have come to our attention during that period. By reason of an almost universal demand from tax payers there seems, at this late date, some slight anxiety in Washington as to what is going to happen in November if some reduction in government costs are not brought about in the immediate future."

"The situation has now become so grave as to demand the serious attention of every private citizen in the land, and particularly of every responsible business man. With our farmers paying more than a third of their income to support the government and the railroads paying more than $2.00 in taxes for every one dollar of their net income, it is not surprising that both farmer and railroad are headed, with steam up, straight toward bankruptcy. There is but one possible method of permanent relief, and that is by going back to fundamentals in the conduct of our affairs, which means to at once bring our expenditures, both governmental and private, to a point well within our income."

"So far as the federal government is concerned it has been spending $5000 a minute in excess of its income for more than a year. This is $300,000 an hour, $7,200,000 a day, $216,000,000 a month and $2,592,000,000 a year. That's why the federal government is going to lack $2,500,000,000 of balancing its budget on the 30th of next month. We cannot avoid paying this sum through taxation, for that is the only method the government can employ to pay its debts. We can, however, prevent this enormous sum from getting any larger by bringing the costs of government within its revenue."

To do this every patriotic citizen in the land ought to set his teeth like flint against every member of Congress who refuses to participate in the accomplishment of this laudable purpose. "We have been employing artificial devices to solve our problem for more than a year. Such devices are always expensive and, while they may promise temporary relief, they have always proven a delusion in the end."

WIFE GRANTED DIVORCE; MATE LOSES CONTEST

In a contested divorce action in superior court Mrs. Joy McNeill has been awarded a divorce from her husband Will McNeill of Santa Ana granted custody of the couple's minor child and awarded $10 weekly for support of the child. A petition for annulment filed by the husband was denied.

Mrs. McNeill filed suit against her husband declaring that they were married in Yuma June 23, 1931, and that she was deserted on the same day by her husband who refused to make a home for her. She alleged that her husband denied paternity of their child and accused her of intimacies with other men before their marriage.

McNeill filed a cross complaint to the action and asked that the marriage be annulled on the grounds that force was used by his wife and her brother, Charles McNeill, in taking him to Arizona for the ceremony.

In awarding weekly payments for the support of the child Superior Judge James L. Allen, before whom the case was tried, declared that there was no evidence of affairs with other men and that no other conclusion other than that McNeill was father of the child was possible.

The child he said is entitled to the care of its mother and has a right to support and an education which must be provided by its father whether the father is willing to do this or not.

Tuesday night's fight was between Filipinos, however, police reported. All was quiet when the officers arrived.
